AMERICAN SLAIN BY MEXICAN BANDITS

BODY RECOVERED BY POLICE WHO KILLED TWO OF KIDNAPERS

Rosenthal's Son-In-Law, Collapsed, Identifies Three

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 17.—The murder of Jacob Rosenthal, 62, retired merchant of Woodmere, N. Y., by bandits has aroused the American colony here. Rosenthal's body was found only three miles from where he was kidnapped.

Three suspects have been identified by Joseph Ruff son-in-law of Rosenthal as being members of the bandit gang and are being brought here for trial. Two of the bandits were shot and killed by the police who recovered the American's body.

Search for remaining members of the gang is being made.

Ruff is in a serious condition in a hospital, having collapsed upon being informed of the fate of his father-in-law.

Bandits kidnapped Rosenthal Sunday from a party of relatives with whom he was returning here from Cuernavaca when they realized that police pretending the paying $10,000 ransom had tricked them.

Two policemen carrying a bag, presumably holding the money but in reality loaded with iron bars, met the bandits near Cuernavaca.

Instead of handing over the bag the police opened fire. Two of the bandits were killed. The others hiding nearby, plunged their knives into the American's body, beat him over the head with their rifles and fled.

The body of Rosenthal will be brought here today after a post-mortem at Cuernavaca.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The basis of Federal reports of the murder of Jacob Rosenthal, wealthy New Yorker, by Mexican bandits, secretary of state Kellogg, today urged the Calles Government to punish the culprits.

Because of vigorous efforts by Federal Mexican authorities, already resulting in capture of two of the six Rosenthal kidnapers, this government has decided not to send the customary protest against Mexican banditry.

The United States may, however, file a claim for damages in the Rosenthal case with the existing mixed claims commission.

BLIMP WILL MAKE ITS LONGEST FLIGHT

The big ship will make the first stop on its 1,200 mile flight at Detroit, where its crew will try out the new Ford mooring mast. From there the ship will go to Chicago and return to Scott Field Tuesday.

Col. Paegelow said the ship would be flown at cruising speed to Detroit, arriving there about sunrise tomorrow. If the mooring proves satisfactory, the ship will remain in Detroit over Saturday and Sunday, leaving Sunday night for Chicago and St. Louis.

AIR-MAIL FLYER USES PARACHUTE

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 17.—Air-mail pilot Charles A. Lindbergh, flying from St. Louis to Chicago, was safe here today after leaping from his plane from an altitude of 4,000 feet and floating to earth with a parachute last night. It is one of the few parachute jumps ever accomplished at night and is said to be by far the farthest plunge ever taken from a plane at night.

The jump was made necessary when Lindbergh's gasoline supply was exhausted and an inky black fog made it impossible for him to find a landing place.

Three sacks of mail were recovered and sent to Chicago by train.

BLAME TOOTHACHE FOR MAN'S SUICIDE

KENTON, O., Sept. 17.—The insidious gnawing pain of a toothache was responsible for the death of Earl Sherman, 22, who shot himself through the heart at his home here.

Aggravation brought on from the additional pain from a bad tooth after a year's illness caused Sherman to take his life, according to his family. A note was found by his sister saying he was about to kill himself because of the toothache.

BLUE EYES PRODUCT OF PERFECT HEALTH DOCTOR ANNOUNCES

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 17.—Your health determines whether you have blue, green, gray, hazel, black or brown eyes, Dr. J. D. Levine, editor of a health publication, declared in a talk here.

If your eyes are blue with a silken finish you are in perfect health, Dr. Levine said. Abnormal states of body and nerves are responsible for all other colors, he declared.

"Every child is born with blue eyes," Dr. Levine said, "Even negro children at birth have grayish-blue eyes, never a deep dark brown. Changes from blue to green, gray, hazel, brown and other colors are not due to racial, political, religious, climatic, or accidental considerations but to states caused by toxins, acids, inflammations or congestions in the body."

"Ninety percent of the people have brown eyes, which show the presence of toxins. The color may be changed by abstinence from certain food."

"The Irish of the old country are blue-eyed because they are forced to live on a strict diet, frequently and fortunately nothing but potatoes and buttermilk."

EIGHT FOOTBALL PLAYERS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION AT OSBORN

Bath High Gridders Victims When Autos Collide—Oris Dyer In Dayton Hospital—Has Skull Fracture

Eight Bath High School students enroute to football practice were injured, two seriously when the touring car in which they were riding upset following a collision with a coupe at Central Ave., and Xenia Drive in Osborn at 3:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Oris Dyer, hurled from the running board of the car against a telephone pole, was the most seriously hurt. At Miami Valley Hospital where he was taken in a Morris and Sons undertaking establishment ambulance, it was ascertained he is suffering from concussion of the brain and was still unconscious Friday. It was first thought he had sustained a fractured skull.

Just Ford, driver of the car, received three broken ribs while the remaining six suffered minor injuries. All occupants of the car were thrown out when the crash occurred.

Lewis Campbell, Osborn, driver of the second car, was not hurt. Others injured were Roy Bootes, Redmond Cogan, James Boyd, Marvin Kneisley, Ernest Smith and Arthur Ray.

It was reported the fault lay with the touring car, which it is alleged, failed to comply with the village traffic regulations, by not stopping at the intersection with Xenia

Drive, as Central Ave. had been designated as a stop street.

The touring car was proceeding on Central Ave. and the coupe on Xenia Drive.

The touring car was packed with football players while three were riding on the running boards. The eight were hurled to the ground along the road and scattered in every direction.

The father of one member of the party, Redmond Cogan, is chief chemist at the Southwestern Portland Cement Co. plant in Osborn.

MURDER'S WIFE "FOR LOVE" NOTE STATES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 17.—Sales Loney, 45, yesterday shot his wife to death. "For love," he told their two children in a message found in the house after he fired a bullet through his hat and stabbed himself probably fatally in the throat.

The tragedy took place in the front yard of the Loney home in Shippingport, and followed a quarrel which had its origin in the wife taken out a security warrant for the husband.

Loney and his wife had been sitting in a lawn swing arguing. Suddenly Loney jerked out a pistol and fired three bullets into her chest in rapid succession.

Loney slumped to the floor board of the swing, dying instantly. Loney arose and, aiming the weapon at his own head, fired once, the bullet piercing his hat, knocking it from his head, narrowly missing sending him to his doom.

Witnesses said Loney bent over his wife's body, kissed it, arose, pulled out a knife and slashed himself.

Mrs. Loney swore to security warrant for her husband, September 1, and although he had returned home daily, it was not until Wednesday that police were able to serve it upon him. He was to have been arraigned in Police Court Thursday morning, but failed to appear, and before police had been instructed to go out and bring him in he slew his wife.

NEBRASKA WIGGLE NEWEST DANCE

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The newest dance is the "Nebraska Wiggle,"—more vigorous and eccentric than the abandon of the Charleston—according to "Beach-Comber" who writes a column in the Daily Express. Here's the way to do it:

"The gent enters an uncouth yell.

"The lady hunches her shoulders, cracks her fingers and yells back.

"Both kick out backwards and forward, swiftly and vigorously.

"The gentleman does a back somersault at the same time catching the lady a stunning blow on the jaw with his right heel.

"More yelling and kicking."

And of it "Beachcomber" says:

"Believe me it is bound to catch on."

OPERATING COST OF WELFARE BUREAU IS $6,000,000, SAID

State Cares For 27,000 Wards And 14,000 Children

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17.—The annual operating cost of the state department of welfare is $6,000,000 and the annual expenditure $2,000,000 for additions and betterments according to the preliminary report filed with Governor Donahey today.

The state has more than 27,000 wards and cares for 14,000 dependent children, the report said and works for the betterment of the blind through the blind commission.

The state owns 13,919 acres of land through the welfare department and 10,007 acres are under cultivation.

Farm production increased from $828,876 in 1922 to $1,110,207 for last year, the report said. Dairies produce $367,874 annually for the state.

There are twenty industries operated under the department of welfare. More than 2,000 prisoners are employed now as against 1,622 in 1923. Production has increased from $1,105,706 worth to $1,555,164.

Operation of the Junction City brick plant by the state was at a loss until 1922, according to the report. It is now operated at a $56,561 annual profit.

The report charges "interests opposed to the purchase of the Roseville brick plant have held up payment for it at a loss to the state."

During the year the division of charities handled for study, placement and treatment 3,024 dependent and crippled children, in addition to the inspection work of the division.

SLAYER SAVED BY "UNWRITTEN LAW"

MARION, O., Sept. 17.—Dennis Large, 42 years old, was a free man today, although he had pleaded guilty at a preliminary hearing of a charge of first degree murder.

The Marion County grand jury has failed to return an indictment against Large for the killing of Charles Edwards, August 20. The "unwritten law" saved him.

Edwards and Mrs. Large were charged with improper relations. Edwards was a roomer at the Large home. Large said he repeatedly warned Edwards to leave and when he did not, Large shot him to death.

Large pleaded guilty before Mayor Earl Hagen and was held for grand jury. Prosecutor Frank Wiedeman said today no further charges would be brought against him.

CHASES BANDITS SO THEY STOP-ROB HIM

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 17.—Even the possession of $13 is unlucky, John Torbeck believes.

Passing a filling station that had just been robbed of $75 here, John took out a motor car west on the National road after the bandits. After racing five miles in pursuit, John found the robbers had swerved into a side road. He followed.

The bandit automobile stopped suddenly. John drove into a ditch to avoid a collision. The bandits, smilingly took John's $13.

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR REGIMENT MEET IN ANNUAL REUNION

General Keifer Is Speaker—Troy Man Heads Body

General J. Warren Keifer, Springfield, one of the few living generals of the Civil War, and a nonagenarian, addressed the failing remnant of his once gallant troops when ten veterans and a small group of widows and other relatives of veterans of the One Hundred and Tenth Regiment, O. V. I., gathered here Thursday for their fifty-eighth annual reunion.

General Keifer, still vigorous despite the years weighing on his shoulders, reminisced of the days when his brave boys in blue had outwitted rebel forces and gained many a victory for the Union in the dark times of the Civil War. When he had answered the final roll call, the general said, he wished to be laid beside the grave of his wife amid familiar scenes of his home city instead of being buried with the nation's dead in Arlington cemetery.

Ten veterans and eight widows of veterans were in the group that spent the day together.

The business session and program was held in G. A. R. post hall in the Court House, and a

PERJURY CHARGE IS MADE AGAINST MRS. M'PHERSON, OTHERS

Mother, Ormiston, Mrs. Wiseman and Lawyer To Be Arrested

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—Warrants for the arrest of Aimee Semple McPherson and four others on three counts of an alleged conspiracy to obstruct justice were issued at the district attorney's office today.

The warrants, signed by District Attorney Asa Keyes, charged perjury and preparation of false evidence and were the climax of a long investigation of the Evangelist's story of kidnapping and imprisonment.

Others named in the warrants were Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus Temple; Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the Evangelist's mother; Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman and "John Doe" Martin.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 17.—Arrest of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, famous evangelist, her mother and three other principals in the investigation of her kidnapping story was expected today.

Warrants charging five persons with perjury in affidavits and in testimony before the grand jury which investigated the alleged abduction have been prepared by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

PERJURY TAKE THREE

Keyes said the papers would not be served until completion of an investigation in which he expects to prove Mrs. McPherson's account of abduction to the Mexican desert last May was a "grand hoax". The investigation, however, would be only a matter of hours, Keyes said.

Those named in the warrants besides the religious leader, were her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaff, Kenneth G. Ormiston and "John Doe" Martin, an attorney. Keyes said that Mrs. McPherson conspired with Mrs. Sellaff, Martin, and Mrs. Kennedy to manufacture evidence in support of the kidnapping story.

Keyes believes that during the time she was supposed to be a captive she was in Carmel-by-the-Sea, near here, at a love nest with Ormiston, who formerly was radio operator at Angelus Temple. Ormiston's attorney informed Keyes he will surrender Ormiston. It is believed that arrests are being delayed by Keyes until he has questioned Ormiston.

The charge encompasses three phases of perjury.

A prison term of from one to fourteen years is the penalty upon conviction.

CHOOSES JAIL TO SAVE UNNAMED MAN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 17.—Given the alternative of obtaining acquittal by naming the man who started her in the liquor business or remaining silent and passing three months in jail, Mrs. Mary F. Fencner, 66 years old, chose jail in the Federal Court this morning. Judge Charles L. Dawson then formally sentenced her to ninety days in the Jefferson County jail on a whisky sale charge.

Mrs. Fencner was arrested September 9 after she is said to have sold liquor on two occasions. She entered a plea of guilty in court Thursday morning, but refused to name the man associated in business with her. At the end of her trial she was given a half an hour to choose between a jail sentence and freedom.

ALMOST 16 MILLION INVESTED IN OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17.—The state of Ohio on June 30 had an investment of $15,783,169.99 in the Ohio State University, it is disclosed in the university's annual financial report transmitted by the trustees to Governor Donahue and made public today. This figure is an increase of $1,720,906.45 over that of last year.

Value of the university's assets has practically tripled in the last fifteen years the report, prepared by Carl E. Steeb, business manager shows. In 1912 the investment including endowments, land, buildings and equipment was worth approximately $5,440,000. Five years later it was only $7,318,000.

Present value of the educational plant itself is given as $14,110,433.89. Of this amount $2,153,561.61 is credited to lands, $8,236,142.53 to buildings and approximately $1,500,000 more to roads, tunnels, walks, a bridge, and the like. Educational equipment of the university is listed at $2,632,465.02.

Gain in the assets of the university resulted in part from the completion of seven important buildings which had been under construction during the previous year. Increase in the land holdings of the institution was valued at $159,030.

Endowment funds of the university, included in the irreducible debt of the state, grew during the year from $1,061,969 to $1,103,011. Gifts and other additions to the endowment funds for general and for special purposes totalled approximately $80,000.

The university now owns 1108 acres of land. The value given is the appraised worth, but the actual value probably is much greater than that listed, on the basis of current local real estate prices.

The university now possesses seventy-nine buildings of every description. These include thirty-nine used for instruction, four hospital buildings, two dormitories, six residences, fourteen stables, barns and other farm structures, and eleven others such as the Administration Building, the power houses, and the Ohio Union.

OUTLINE CAMPAIGN TO OBTAIN SPECIAL SCHOOL FUNDS HERE

Definite plans for the one day annual drive to secure funds for the Opportunity School work, were made at a meeting of officers and the cabinet of the Federated Parent-Teachers Association Thursday night at the home of Mrs. S. M. McKay, president of the federation. The drive will take place Thursday September 23.

One thousand dollars has been set for the goal, but the P. T. A. is hopeful that the result will exceed that sum making skimping of the work less necessary. The annual campaign has usually yielded about $1500.

Campaign headquarters will be established in the basement of the Court House, and committees which will start work at 9 o'clock will report at headquarters as fast as they have completed their solicitations. Each branch P. T. A. has appointed women to cover the separate districts.

The funds are used for the purpose of providing shoes and necessary clothing for children whose parents are unable to provide properly for them, and food for undernourished children attending the various public schools as well as the Opportunity School children who do not obtain their meals at home.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM INDIANA JAIL

GOSHEN, Ind., Sept. 17.—Four prisoners early this morning sawed their way out of the Elkhart County Jail, the second delivery within little more than two weeks.

Four prisoners escaped August 29, three of them were captured, the fourth, Curley Hunt, a South Bend negro, is still at large.

One of the prisoners who escaped in the first delivery and was caught hiding behind tombstones in Oak Ridge Cemetery here, again gained his liberty this morning. He is Roy Merz, 25. The other fugitives are Thomas O'Brien, also known as Thomas Young, who was to have gone on trial in Elkhart, September 27, charged with having murdered Louis Kreidler, South Bend druggist, Russell Frandall, sixteen years old, alleged check forger and Lloyd Robert Bowman, 22, charged with motor theft.

Eighteen prisoners who had access to the small opening through which the four gained their freedom did not take advantage of it, remaining behind because they could not squeeze through the hole in the window bars.

PASSING OF GRANGE DOES NOT MEAN END OF ALL GRID STARS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 17.—The passing of "Red" Grange from the field of amateur football does not mean the passing of all individual stars from the collegiate ranks, is the opinion of "Bob" Zupke, head coach at the University of Illinois and the developer of Grange.

Preparing today for the first practice of the 1926 Illinois team which has been referred to as the "Grangeless Illinois," Zupke smiled when it was mentioned that Grange's passing meant the end of individual stars.

"Maybe there won't be any one so good as Grange in some time," Zupke said. "However, there will be stars now as always before." Zupke, considered to have one of the keenest football minds in the Big Ten conference, is directing his forces towards creation of another player who will reef off great yardage against the opponents. He has Lanum, Timm and Peters from last year's sophomores. All give promise of being future "Greats" in Big Ten football circles.

"We will at least have a rounded backfield this fall and it would not be surprising if we had some stars," Zupke said.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 63

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for forty-seven years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. W. B. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

PILL-SLAVE FREED FROM CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought natural relief in a few weeks

A remarkable, convincing tribute is paid Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Aminsen, of Seattle:

"I suffered with chronic constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night, but since I got your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN it works fine. I would not be without it. I was so deathly sick of taking pills every night. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally and is pleasant to take."

F. C. AMINSEN, Kennewick, Seattle, Washington. You can get permanent relief from constipation with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN if eaten regularly. Two tablespoonsfuls daily—or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it because it is ALL-BRAN. It does a job only ALL-BRAN can do. Part-bran products may not do any good at all.

OLD BEANS TO BE PLANTED

We read in the local newspapers that in 1924 a jar containing beans, estimated to be 1,000 years old was discovered in an Aztec tomb in Mexico. A Colorado rancher is said to have obtained 27 beans which grew last year from some of the original beans planted in Mexico. He intends to plant them and as they are described as a desert bean "growing in dry soil and thriving on drouth," yet yielding four times the volume of the ordinary Mexican bean, he expects to secure good returns.

Generally it is presumed that the germ in a seed will not retain its vitality longer than a few years, but that theory was disposed a few years ago when seeds taken from the desert of Gobi were treated at Johns Hopkins University for the purpose of removing the cement-like incrustation with which the centuries had enveloped it, and it later germinated. Dry countries are more likely to produce longevity in seeds than are those where it rains frequently.

COST OF SICKNESS

When one considers that the expenditure, whether by municipalities or by individuals, for recreation is usually for the purpose of improving the health, or of keeping one fit, it is interesting to compare the amount of money spent on account of sickness. In all the United States last year more than $2,000,000 in lost wages and medical bills was the cost of sickness. It is estimated that the loss of an equally large sum was occasioned by premature deaths.

Scarcely fifty cents per capita, it is claimed is spent on behalf of public health. The total amount spent last year for that purpose was $60,000,000. This represents the sum spent for the prevention of disease. A life insurance statistician recently stated that expert opinion is that an expenditure of $2 per capita, directed against preventable diseases and for health education would reduce the annual death rate two points per 1,000 and correspondingly increase the expectancy of life by possibly five years. The value of an added year of life, he said, is estimated at $1,000 at least, so that should the 117,000,000 American lives be each extended for a period of five years the net monetary value of such increase would amount to six billion of dollars, which would be added to the value of the living capital of the United States.

Another way of looking at it is that if rational recreation, regular exercise and a reasonable sum expended for prevention of disease, will bring about such results, the amount one might earn in the extra five years of added life would more than make up for the time he spends in taking the exercise, and the sum he spends on them.

UNIFORM AUTO SIGNALS

The American Automobile association has interested itself in another campaign of importance to the car drivers. It is urging a uniform system of hand signals throughout the country. Whatever system prevails now is largely a matter of individual action. No general code has ever been approved or put into practice. In making turns, most drivers have been able to make known their intentions by extending their hands. That serves sufficiently when traffic is not congested, but it hardly fits the needs when the highways are crowded.

The automobile association proposes the following signal code to replace the varied ones which now exist:

These signals have been tried out in sections of the country, and have been used to some extent by tri-city motorists. It is not of real importance what particular signals are used. The main need is to have a universal system, understood by all and put in practice in every section of the country. The proposals made by the association are simple and easily understood. If they are universally adopted, it is safe to say many of the accidents which result from careless turning on and off highways, would be avoided.

WORLD POPULATION TO DATE

The most recent estimate of the population of the world places the total at 1,849,500,000 of which 825,000,000 are Caucasians, 680,000,000 Mongolians, 210,000,000 Negroes, 104,500,000 Malays and 30,000,000 Indians. There are over 100,000,000 Jews in the world.

According to continents the population of the world is divided approximately as follows: Africa, 150,000,000; North America, 140,000,000; South America, 70,000,000; Asia, 981,600,000; Australia, 12,000,000; Europe, 498 million.

Figuring the density of population, of the number of inhabitants to the square mile, it is interesting to find that Europe has a much denser population than has Asia, notwithstanding the great numbers of people in China and India. In Africa there are about 13 per square mile; in North America, 17; South America, 9; Asia, 56; Australia, 3; Europe, 125. Total average density for the whole world, 32.5.

From the above figures it will be observed that North America has not even the average for the world. For the United States the density is approximately 28, still less than the average for the entire world, but only half what it is for Asia and less than one-fourth of what it is for Europe.

America is now exporting 29,000,000 false teeth annually, which is an improvement on the old custom of using them to fit up new laws.

East Side - West Side

—OF—

New York

By Jack O'Donnell

One of the best customers of a public market in lower New York is a business man from Jersey who buys fresh vegetables, loads them on a light truck, drives to his "farm," arranges them neatly on a stand by the road, and sells them to tourists and motorists at a price plenty high enough to pay him for the trouble of getting them.

Barnum was right. Out-of-towners are often confused when they try for the first time to drive their motor cars in New York. Their courage usually stays with them until they cross to the island itself, and become swallowed up in the noises of the dense downtown districts.

There is such a variety of noises! One of the funniest sights is to see a man stop his car underneath the Elevated structure, get out, and look at all his tires. The poor startled fellow imagines he has a puncture because the train in rumbling above him, has released an air brake. This hissing noise sounds for all the world like a tire gone wrong.

Taxis prove another new experience to the green motorist. To anyone who has never locked fenders with one of these brazen barouches, the terrors of the avenue are still real.

One of the companies has adopted the slogan "Courtesy Creates Safety." Banners with this tender sentiment decorate all the rear windows of their cabs. One is first touched with the irony of the motto when he is driving peacefully down Seventh Avenue, and a taxi come tumbling out of a side street, turns in ahead of him by the process of shaving off a headlight or two and clipping a bumper. Because the next thing one sees in natural order of events is the taxi's rear window.

And at that, these fellows are the best drivers in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. George Murry and son, Louie of near Jamestown, spent Sunday with Mrs. Murry's mother, Mrs. M. A. Strong.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Linkhart and daughter Arthella, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis of Lumberton.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bales and family spent the week-end with relatives in Columbus. The regular monthly meeting of the Loyal Sons and Daughters of Sunday School classes was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kyle, Tuesday evening, with a good attendance. After the business meeting, a social time was spent and a musical program was much enjoyed by all. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. It was planned to hold next month's meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Strong.

arrested for driving a horseless carriage in Central Park. Today, when most carriages are horseless—one still stands a good chance of running afoul of the law. Twenty-five miles an hour is the dead limit, and motorcycle cops on muffled red machines have a way of appearing suddenly from behind bushes.

On Fifth Avenue, quite the contrary, the motorist may go thirty-five or forty (provided he is skillful enough to manage it) and the police never bat an eye. They're glad to get rid of him—it relieves traffic. But in the Park, traffic falls into a lazy drifting sort of gait, in keeping both with the law and the locality; even the gaudy taxis lapse from their customary restlessness.

It's one of the few places in New York where you're not allowed to hurry.

Farmers will be glad to hear this one. The other day I was driving a friend of mine—a New Yorker by birth—into the country. We passed a pasture where a herd of Holsteins were grazing. My city-bred companion, who can tell you the middle name of a hundred head-waiters, spied the cows and in great astonishment called out: "Look—see how they are branded, all alike, with a stripe around the stomach!"

CUCUMBER OIL PICKLES
A reader friend has written me to ask for an article on cucumber oil pickles, which are so delicious that I believe that many other women will wish to try them. Cucumber Oil Pickles: Wash one peck of large gherkins and slice into a large receptacle. Into the same container slice one quart and one pint of large pickling onions; mix the two vegetables well, cover them with brine strong enough to float an egg, and let stand untouched over night (or for twelve or fourteen hours). Now drain well. Pack the drained mixture in sterilized glass jars (quart size), adding two cups of cider vinegar and one-half cup of olive oil to each jarful of the pickles, after mixing the two liquids together as follows: Bring the vinegar to the boiling point with one heaping tablespoon of celery, one heaping tablespoon of white peppercorns and one heaping tablespoon of mustard seeds. Let the spiced vinegar continue to boil for six or eight minutes, then cool, and add the olive oil. Pour over the cucumber-onion mixture (which you have already packed into the jars), and if you lack vinegar enough to cover the pickles, add more straight from your vinegar jug (cold and uncooked.) Seal the jars airtight and store. By "sterilized" jars, I mean those which have been boiled empty, for fifteen minutes, then drained. Some housewives make cucumber oil pickles as follows: Uncooked Vinegar Method: Slice eighty small cucumbers, after washing them well and draining, and place them in layers in a large container with salt. Let stand five hours then drain well and rinse by turning cold water through them in a large colander. Next, add to them one quart of small white onions sliced, one-third cup of celery seeds, one-third cup of whole mustard seeds, three sliced red peppers, and one tablespoon of black peppercorns. Mix well, then stir in one cup of olive oil and one tablespoon of pulverized alum. Pack in jars (sterilized as above described), taking care that the various spices are fairly even distributed throughout all the jars, then cover pickles with cold vinegar, uncooked. Seal airtight, label and store. Tomorrow—The Unhurried Housekeeper part of dating, which also includes dancing and petting," he charges. "Women now participate in drinking bouts to an extent, which to the uninitiated is astounding."

Cross then described an orgy he says he witnessed on a sleeping coach, enroute to a football game last fall. "Collegeians of both sexes most of whom were quite drunk, staged a pajama dance in the aisles between sleeper berths. "Inevitably many of the men shared berths with co-eds—that was a general condition pervading three long sleepers. That affair was exceptional only because it presented an exceptional opportunity to develop an ordinary tendency to licentious."

"The inebriated women is a bundle of animality," he continued, "mixed drinking begins with a little party after the dance, the petting session, and after inhibitions have been lulled and passions stirred by sensual music."

Drinking in student days has been a tradition Cross' article asserts, but since the participation of the college woman it has become a bacchanalia, he concludes. "As one man puts it, 'women have descended to the bestiality of men'."

WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY

Wilberforce University is the result of a most notable effort of the negro in America at self-development.

It began September 21, 1844 with the appointment of a committee "to select a tract of land for the purpose of erecting a seminary of learning, on the Manual Labor plan for the instruction of youth among us, in the various branches of literature, science, agriculture and mechanic arts; and also for those young men who may desire to prepare their minds for the work of the ministry."

In 1847 Union Seminary, twelve miles from Columbus, began a humble yet relatively important career. In 1856 the M. E. Church laid the foundation of Wilberforce University.

Students by the score came from the South into the free state of Ohio. Students by the score returned with education from surroundings, as well as from science, for Wilberforce began, and has continued, a Southern school on Northern soil.

The university passed into possession and under the control of colored men in 1863. Two years later it lay in ashes, on the very day of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln.

Arrangements for rebuilding were begun at once, yet thirteen years of arduous effort were required for its completion.

GREENE COUNTIAN SHEEP SHOW WINNER

In the competition for sheep at the international livestock show at Philadelphia, Pa., Thursday, H. H. Cherry, Federal Pike, won the grand championship for rams in the Hampshire.

By winning thirty-seven prizes, Everett King, Ankney, Ia., established a new record in exhibitions of this kind. Of this number, fourteen were for first place. His entries made a clean sweep in the class for Belgian horses, his three-year-old Jupiter Marie capturing the grand championship.

The Theatre

One of the greatest actors of the present has neither play, company, booking, stage, screen or box-office. He does not perform in a theater or before a camera and does not entertain a paid audience. He is Luke Barnett, who has raised practical joking to an art.

The other day at an exclusive Manhattan party, a bungling butler trod viciously on the toes of an important guest. The guest, with rare self-control, contained his temper. Still later the awkward insult was repeated, this time accompanied by a hissed: "You, pull your feet in."

The guest, rightly incensed, boiled over. But it was later revealed that the blundering butler was Barnett, retained at great expense by the host to furnish his unusual laugh-provoking entertainment for the guests. Barnett operates by assuming the character usually of a servant. In this capacity, mingling freely with the guests, he selects certain of them as the butt of disparaging and insulting remarks. The unfortunate victim feels uncomfortable, reddens, finally explodes. The laugh is on him when Barnett's identity is revealed.

When capitalists are dining, Barnett, acting as a waiter, stirs up strife with jibes about capital and labor. On one occasion, he started an argument with a guest which developed into a threatened strike. Barnett called all the waiters for a walk-out and then agreed to permit arbitration. The resultant debate with a capitalist-guest was what is termed in the theatrical circles as a "wow."

If the gathering is patriotic, Barnett will represent himself to be a Communist and launch into a Red speech. The resultant fight resembles a busy night in the Argentine. Frequently he has had narrow escapes and on some occasions has been struck by enraged guests whom he offended before his identity could be revealed.

A simple expedient Barnett uses is to pose as a German waiter at a private dinner. He picks out the guest of honor and each time he passes his chair, he comments on the guest's table etiquette. "The wrong fork, please," he will hiss, using an accent. "The other spoon, sir," he will say a moment later. He not only spoils the guest's dinner but almost starts a riot.

Several years ago he attended a hunting party in Pennsylvania. Col. Joe Thompson, a relative of Treasurer-nominee Helen Dodds, was in the party. Barnett, selecting a healthy guest, went hunting with him. Some distance from camp Barnett fell and complained that he had broken his leg and couldn't walk. The victim carried Barnett seven miles back to camp and when informed of the hoax had to be restrained from doing him bodily harm.

Barnett works without the aid of stage properties, make-up, footlights or other mechanical devices other than the type of clothing he chooses to wear. The fact that his characterizations are always convincing proves him, to be a capable actor.

Today's Talk

There is no happiness so great as that which comes when you feel that you have given happiness to someone to whom you least expected to give it.

One of the most beautiful letters I have received recently came from a man who was in jail. I prize it greatly. Today one came to me from a 22-year-old girl who merely signed her letter "Dorothy, one of the millions." She told me not to get discouraged, to "carry on" to be assured that these simple little talks helped her at least.

It was the pride of Jesus that he could reach and touch the simple folks, the fisherman, the unknown, and the despised.

I have talked with a great many famous and useful writers and they tell me that their greatest happiness comes from the appreciation of those least expected to express their appreciation.

I want to thank Dorothy in this public way, wherever she lives for her gentle and thoughtful letter. She is a type that every writer would want to help.

Wouldn't it be very wonderful if this little Talk might search out a million other Dorothys and encourage them to say kind and helpful things to those most near.

Isn't what we do half as much as what we are able to inspire others to do that counts most in this world. In the end, fame and applause are quite empty. The lasting thing is what happens after you have passed on.

I passed by a tomb the other day that holds the ashes of America's greatest men. In thousands of schools every day in the year, teachers are telling boys and girls of the nobleness of this man who rose from poverty to the highest position in the gift of the nation. Death doesn't remove beauty of spirit and nobleness of character. Both are as immortal as the simplest good deed.

I shall never see "Dorothy," but I shall carry her thoughtfulness and encouraging words around with me forever.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

SANTOS DUMONT

Santos Dumont, Brazilian inventor, to whom South Americans credit the invention of the aeroplane, has one great hobby—traveling between Rio de Janeiro and Paris.

Dumont rarely spends more than two months of the year at his beautiful home in Petropolis, a mountain resort near Rio de Janeiro. Most of this time is spent in Paris and on steamers between Rio and France.

Dumont also goes in for collecting models of aeroplanes, dirigibles, automobiles, locomotives and ships, and has several hundred of such in his Petropolis home.

Modish Mitzi AN ENSEMBLE THAT CAN GO ANYWHERE Jay V. Jay

Polly and Mitzi are wishing that they could see more of Minneapolis. Just now they are admiring the Institute of Arts. Mitzi appreciates the arts indeed she does. She may not be an artist in the true sense of the word but she loves to make pictures. Nothing delights her more than to have black and white gloves match a black and white hat.

"It is the Mississippi," argues Polly. "All the water that flows under that bridge is the Mississippi," she insists. Mitzi wants to know why she thinks so. Well, the map says so which settles it. The argument gives Mitzi the opportunity of gesticulating with her bag which matches her hat, please notice.

Polly has found the way to Nokomis Beach, one of the popular beaches of the city. Polly for the first time is wishing that she might change her smart high crowned hat pointed at the top for a snug fitting diving cap. Minneapolis has many pleasures, and Polly would like to linger and enjoy this one. Mitzi has other plans.

Mitzi's feet have warned her that they will not take her another step in Minneapolis. "I thought, Mitzi you said you could go anywhere in that smart ensemble outfit of gloves, pocket and slippers," slyly reminds Polly. "Well, anywhere isn't everywhere and that's where we've been," wearily replies Mitzi.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

In Xenia there is a house,
Where I shall live no more;
And ere the dawn lies wide awake,
And hear my wife snore.

Another party mows the lawn,
Collectors find I've fled;
"Wrong Numbers" in that house no more,
Shall get me out of bed.

The neighbors there, low five they were,
Today in peace can grin;
And thank the Lord that I am gone,
And so's my mandolin.

New owner, you may drink your milk,
And coffee, I don't care;
I only know I'd like to have
The cider I drank there.

souri Paper. My advice is not to let it be troubled by anyone.

IN COLUMBUS

You may be surprised,
But I learned today;
They keep tab on your baths,
At the Y. M. C. A.

Own your own home. Buy it through an ad on this page.
However, get everything in writing. I know a man who is out a nice little pile because of not getting certain agreements in writing from a large real estate company. Trust no one.

Written in Death Row by John Hedrick

Poor little shorty Bryant, with a jug in a sack
Is going to a barbecue and not coming back;
Here is Richard Rhoades and his old copper still,
Who made good moonshine at the old rolling mill;
Here is John Hedrick, poor dazed fool,
Who deserted wife and babies to join the wild crew;
And now must pay with the others what the law's due.

Rhoades, Hedrick and Bryant were electrocuted. The above was written by John Hedrick while in his death cell at the Ohio pen.

The door of the penitentiary was as near as I got to the electrocution. Several other chicken-hearted fellows faltered with me. Three hearsees waited for the three bodies. A large crowd waited without during the execution.

"Her Sister From Paris"

Tells a story of a twin sister who lost the love of her husband who fell in love with the Paris sister and later regained it SOLELY by "dolling up" like her Paris sister! Could THIS be a good argument for OUR toilet-ry department?

A Thrill From The Orient!

Our spices, many of them came to us in the original packages! That's how fresh and pure they are! We got every possible shade of flavor possible to use for home canning and pickling.
Tasty but indigestible.

Speaking of Christmas:

We rise to remark that THIS year we aim to outdo ourselves, break our own record in the wide range of GIFTS we're carrying.
Got a lot in this week suitable for gifts at ANY time even if Christmas is a bit far ahead.
Come in here FIRST. Make it a habit.

Rubber Conceits!

Tubing, rubber balls, H. W.
bags, aprons, gloves, bandages and erasers all vie with each other in attracting your attention! Appealing to your imagination. Some times we think tubing is the MOST interesting, judging from what the happy buyers say.

Police and Fountain News

What if a Soda was real hard to get You'd want 'em every day of your life I'd bet
You'd write to your Senator, rare and cuss
You'd feel you were mixed in a TERRIBLE mess.

But such a condition is a very bad dream
No one's going to take a shot at ice cream times we think
And it's just as fine tho NOT forbidden
If you don't come in its your-
SELF you're kidding.
Ain't it so?

Shorty Says:-
Its only fair for men to take the corset away from women! Wimmen have copped our pants, our haircuts, our razors, our votes, our bathing suits, our jobs and MOST of our goats!
It's darn near time we WERE doing SOME thing to get back at 'em!

FOR!D—It*—*!

Both expressions are used freely on the average golf course! Now that we show you the proper language let's show you the proper golf clubs.
We carry a complete assortment of the Whippet brand and we THINK you MIGHT save a bit of money by dashing in here for your golf clubs.

A Mean SNORT! !

Why let a cold get a grip on you get you DOWN when if you catch it in the SNEEZE period you can knock the blamed thing for a goal! Our Rexall Cold Remedy does just that little thing and costs only 25c a bottle.

As Announced
LAST WEEK! !

This is the "open season" on candies! Customers have been trooping in here firing at pound after pound of our Nutrine brand while others report big bags of get in line. Seems to be pretty good huntin'.

Our BIG Season In Prescriptions!

Its just coming on to us. Its really remarkable when you come to think of it how LITTLE man has progressed in the sci-cooler months when he "catches" things! But see a doctor FIRST!

ANNUAL FINANCIAL DRIVE FOR OPPORTUNITY SCHOOL PLANNED

Annual drive of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association for funds to finance certain charities in connection with the Opportunity School will be held next Thursday, September 23, it is announced. The association has set a goal of $1,000 for the one-day drive, during which a house to house canvass will be conducted. Plans for the intensive campaign to raise the sum have been completed and members believe the amount collected will exceed the goal set.

Last year Xenians contributed sums all the way from nine cents to $100 to make a grand total of $1,500, although the campaign was for only $1,000. Money derived in this manner is used to buy food, garments and shoes for children in the Opportunity School where handicapped youngsters are given special instruction. The school itself is financed by the board of education. None of the money collected by the Federated Parent-Teacher Association is spent except for the purpose it was intended. Mrs. S. M. McKay, president of the federated body, is directing the drive and Mrs. J. J. Stout is in charge of publicity.

NEW STORMS KILL SIX IN MID-WEST

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—High waters, snows and rainstorms have taken a toll of six lives in mid-west United States and Western Canada in the past twenty-four hours.

Two persons were killed near Humboldt, when their motor car overturned into a water filled ditch. Four were killed in the snow and hail storm in Western Canada. Near Beardstown, Ill., where the Illinois River is above flood stage, many residents are moving from their homes. Crops near Burlington, Ia., are periled through the high waters of Skunk Creek. A wide crevasse has been opened in the dyke protecting the lowlands.

Announcement has been made by the Famous Auto Supply Co., this city, of the purchase of the accessory store of The Lauterbur Machine Co., in Sidney. The owners have taken possession of the store and opened it under the new name last Saturday. The purchase will not affect the Xenia store.

MELLON RETURNS FROM EUROPE

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury returned to the United States from a two months visit to Europe today and received reporters in the barge office for ten minutes during which he revealed little except a disinclination to talk.

Mellon refused to comment on controversial matters of any description but did venture the opinion that conditions in the countries through which he passed seemed to be improving.

DENIES REPORT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The state department today denied reports that the United States had exerted pressure on Cuba, causing the latter to withdraw its candidacy for a league of nations council seat. It was said this government had no connection with Cuba's league activity.

WIFE FILES SUIT ASKING DIVORCE

Because her husband associated with other women she left him July 2, 1925 and returned in January, 1926 to her former home to see her child only to find him living with another woman. Bernice Louise Jones charges in her suit for divorce from George W. Jones, Jr., filed in Common Pleas Court. Plaintiff accuses the defendant of gross neglect of duty, declaring she was forced to live most of the time with her husband's people and had to rely on others for support.

They were married December 27, 1920 and have one child, George Russell, 5.

SUES ON NOTE

BAD BREATH

USUALLY CAUSED BY IMPROPER DIGESTION IS EASILY OVERCOME

This condition which detracts so much from an otherwise fine personality and sometimes leads to serious results, is easily eliminated by a very simple treatment, that will at once correct the fault and at the same time aid in the assimilation of food, regulate the system, removes gaseous conditions and leave the stomach sweet and clean. Try for a few days taking a teaspoonful of AGARENE each morning on arising and just before retiring. You will find it very pleasant to take, without any bad after-effects. You can obtain AGARENE from any druggist or sent prepaid in the United States upon receipt of $1.00. Address Hallen Chemical Corporation, Cincinnati, Ohio. —Adv.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF DOG BITE APPLIES FOR RABIES REMEDY

Clinton Everhart, 70, was a fifth victim of a rabid dog which ran amuck in a crowd on E. Main St., last Saturday afternoon. It was learned today when Mr. Everhart visited the office of Dr. Frank Chambliss, who is giving Pasteur treatment to the victims of the dog's teeth.

Mr. Everhart had not visited a physician after being bitten on the leg, but returned home where simple remedies were applied to the wound which Dr. Chambliss says was the most serious of those received by victims. Becoming frightened he visited the office of Dr. Chambliss Friday after learning that he was to give the Pasteur treatment. The wound had not been cauterized and the physician did this, later sending to the Pasteur Institute in Columbus for additional serum.

Dr. Chambliss says that Elmer Trubee, his nephew and niece the Osburn children who were bitten last Saturday and the Chaney child who was wounded by the same animal earlier in the week are reacting favorably to the Pasteur remedy the first treatments of which have been given them.

Toledo Motor Coach Fleet Travels on RED CROWN

Low cost per mile brings operating profits

MOTOR bus lines have to be mighty careful of transportation costs. Profits are at stake. To give speedy, dependable service high grade gasoline is required.

This testimony comes from Fred Ryno, Manager, Ottawa Motor Coach Company, of Toledo:

"My fleet of 15 motor coaches engaged in suburban service between Toledo and Ottawa Hills are operated on Red Crown Gasoline and Polarine Motor Oil exclusively. The uniformly high quality of Red Crown and Polarine give the big mileage and operating economies essential to profitable passenger transportation."

The same reliability and operating economy are yours when you use Red Crown. And you can always get it anywhere in Ohio—at 500 Standard Oil Service Stations and at Red Crown dealers and garages.

GOLDEN TEXT: Drink no wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee. Leviticus 10:9. TIME: B. C. 1498, the last half of the year. PLACE: Still in the Sinai region. LESSON TEXT: Leviticus 26:3-5, 14-20.

3. If ye walk in my statutes, and keep my commandments, and do them: 4. Then I will give you rains in their season, and the land shall yield its increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit. 5. And your threshing shall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage shall reach unto the sowing time; and ye shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land safely. 14. But if ye will not harken unto me and will not do all these commandments: 15. And if ye shall reject my statutes, and if your soul shall abhor mine ordinances, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but break my covenant; 16. I also will do this unto you; I will appoint terror over you, even consumption and fever, that shall consume the eyes and make the soul to pine away; and ye shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it. 17. And I will set my face against you, and ye shall be smitten before your enemies; they that hate you shall rule over you; and ye shall flee when none pursueth you. 18. And if you will not yet for these things hearken unto me, then I will chase you seven times more for your sins. 19. And I will break the pride of your power; and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brass. 20. And your strength shall be spent in vain; for your land shall not yield its increase neither shall the trees of the land yield their fruit.

INTRODUCTION: This book of the Bible is called Leviticus, because it contains legislation regulating the lives of the Israelites, especially the Levites or priests. These laws are both civil and religious. The book's background is, "I am Jehovah your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt."

1. STATUTES ARE NECESSARY: Did the Israelites tire of their laws? Did they think them unnecessary? Many of us think that we have too much law and government, that may be true in some cases and branches of the law. Why do we need Statutes? This question is vital and pertinent. We, as good citizens, should watch our chance and help correct those weak laws to the letter. Government is an unseen factor that protects our lives, liberty and property. Only loss of law and government would teach their importance and value, they are the result of the long and hard experience of human need and experience. They are human and divine. "The powers that are ordained of God." Romans 13:1. Be loyal.

2. RESULTS OF OBEDIENCE: Obedience to law results in prosperity in one way or another. We have the law of nature, health, mental and civil. We, if we disobey any one of these we must truly realize and suffer our error in some way. But if we heed them and obey all we will enjoy a splendid result of prosperity. Nature is fertile under righteous government and character is a product of spiritual law. God will bless us with His fine fruits of the spirit the same as He does in sun, shower, farm and orchard. God protected the Israelites from the raids of the neighboring pagans. When land has obedient people and a righteous government and laws, all can enjoy prosperity both in the home, business and education and also spiritual progress will be made.

3. DISOBEDIENCE: "But if ye will not harken unto me," causes us to realize that in all ages some have doubted and disobeyed the law. They have no certain and good reason because they do not care to obey. If laws are unjust there is a civil way to improve them. The principle of prohibition is imbedded in our constitution and should be respected as any other law, if ye expect to be good citizens. We cannot encourage this spirit of disrespect for the 18th amendment without injuring the entire fabric of law and liberty.

4. EVIL DOERS: God informs those who desire to reject law and order, "I will appoint terror over you." Law must have terror or many of us would do their own will and not respect any one's rights. Our penalties are social, moral and spiritual pains that follow disobedience and sin. "The wages of sin is death," Romans 6:23.

5. WASTED ENERGY: "God informs us." Your strength will be spent in vain, "by transgressing human and divine laws, including temperance." Vice is expensive, it deadens conscience. Energy spent in sin is "spent in vain." Isn't this reason enough for us to obey and enforce law. The only safe way is avoid sin and temperance, "Avoid it, pass not it by; turn from it, and pass on," Proverbs 4:15.

BIBLE STORY
Now that Joseph had given secret orders to his house steward that when his brethren were ready to return home, he should as before, put back their money in their sacks of corn; but in Benjamin's sack along with his money, he was to put Joseph's great silver drinking cup. So when the dawn came and the new day, they set out in their long journey northwards. Then Joseph called his steward, "Up," he said, "and follow them; and when you have overtaken them, say: 'Why have ye returned evil for good by stealing my lord's cup, whereby he consults the oracles of God? Verily ye have done evil in doing this.' So the steward and his men pursued and overtook them, and spoke roughly to them, and even as Joseph had given him command. Then the eleven brethren were filled with amazement; yet they denied the theft, and called the steward to witness how they had brought back the money that had been put in their sacks before. Moreover, they pledged themselves that if one of them should be found to have stolen the cup, he should die, and the rest should be Joseph's bond-servants. And to this the steward agreed; but when the sacks were unloaded and opened, lo, there in the mouth of Benjamin's sack was found the cup.

Then in sorrow and fear they rent their clothes and went back with the steward to Avaris, and fell on the ground before their brother. And Joseph said unto them: "What is this that you have done? Did you not know that such a man as I could know your crime by art-magic?" Then Judah answered: "We have no defense." This is the finger of God. "We are all thy slaves." But Joseph said, "Not so, only the thief shall be my servant, and the rest of you can go in peace to your father." Then Judah answered: "Ah my Lord," he said, "be not angry with me, lest we be consumed; for you are in the King's place. You know how all this has come about, how you asked if we had another brother, and we told you of this Benjamin, and you said that he must come with us or we should not see your face again. Then, when we told our father, he would scarce be persuaded to let Benjamin come with us, lest he should perish, as Joseph, his brother, perished; for surely death would break our father's heart. Oh, my lord, how can I go back and tell my father that the lad is not with us? It will kill him with sorrow. And I pledged myself to my father to bring his son back to him. Let me stay as a slave to you, my lord, and let the lad go, for I cannot bear to return without him, and see the breaking of my father's heart."

It would be through a hard Government that should tax its people one tenth part of their TIME to be employed in its Service. But IDLENESS taxes many of us much more, if we reckon all that is spent in idle Employments or Amusements, that amount to nothing. SLOTH, by bringing on diseases absolutely shortens life. SLOTH, like Rust, consumes faster than Labor wears, while the used Key is always bright, as Poor Richard says. But dost thou love Life, then do not squander Time, for that's the Stuff Life is made of, as Poor Richard says.

WILBERFORCE FOUR RETURNS FOLLOWING LONG SINGING TOUR

Nearing the end of a 9,000 mile tour through nine states which marks the first concentrated effort of the officials to popularize the school, the famous Wilberforce University Quartette, composed of university students, arrived in Pittsburgh, Pa., Sunday.

"A Million Friends For Wilberforce" is the slogan being dispensed by the Quartette which has toured the eastern and southern section of the country to further the plan of a "Million Dollar Endowment" for the university.

The quartette, composed of H. T. Williams, bass; J. J. Ballou, baritone; R. R. Reed, second tenor; and H. Q. Smith, first tenor, is the first recognized and authorized group of singers for the school.

Buchanan, captain of the 1926 Wilberforce football eleven, is accompanying the Quartette and acting as joint manager and chauffeur.

The songsters toured the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, were featured in numerous concerts and received with hearty acclaim at all points along the route.

The Victor Recording Co., gave the quartette a tryout while in New York and their work merited such approval that it is expected several of their more popular numbers will be available on the market soon.

Other outstanding schools with travelling singers engaged in building up a spirit of good will for their schools are Flisk and Hampton.

FESS HELPS YOUTH TO ENTER ANTIOCH

Walter Leonard Rutnam, Antioch College student, probably owes the fact he is now enrolled at the school, to the close relationship between U. S. Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, former president of the college and Antioch.

The institution is of course dear to the memory of the junior Ohio Senator.

Recently the United States consul at Quebec, Canada, held up Rutnam, who was enroute from Ceylon to enter the college, having concluded that Antioch was of insufficient standing to be rated among schools accredited by the state department, the story runs. But for Senator Fess's prompt and immediate intervention in which he persuaded the consul to a contrary belief, the student might have never entered the college.

The Girl Who Dared

By May Christie

CHAPTER III

LUELLA'S CONFIDENCES

The interior of the Atlanta railroad station presented a scene of great activity. Porters rushed here and there with their burdens of bags. There were warning shouts as passengers and their friends and relatives got in the way of baggage trucks, while messengers and newsboys darted here and there, the latter shouting shrilly.

Mary Forrest, in a neat new suit and traveling coat which she had bought out of her savings augmented by a three weeks' advance of salary from Cyrus Wade, surveyed the highly interesting scene.

Cyrus Wade, a little ruffled and irascible from the dilatoriness of his wife and niece, preceded them into the station. He caught sight of Mary. "Evening, Miss Forrest. Sorry to have kept you waiting, but these women-folk of mine—"

"Now Cy!" in nagging tones from Mrs. Wade. "It was YOU who hung us up on the insurance of the baggage."

"Aw, come on!" They were through the gates. "This our Pullman, George?" He peered at the lettering on the window. "Right! Hop in."

Luella, resplendent in chinchilla cloak, with a large bunch of orchids on one shoulder, lingered.

"Come on, girl," urged her uncle. But not until the train was about to start did she enter the coach where Mary and the Wades were seated. She dropped down beside the former and did not speak until Atlanta was left well behind.

"What a messy town. But some nice people there. Are you glad or sad to leave?"

Mary felt diplomacy was needed, and answered guardedly. After an hour had passed in humdrum conversation, Luella grew expansive. Her uncle nodded across the aisle. She dropped her voice so that her aunt, beside him, might fail to overhear.

"The reason I hung about in the station was to see my beau. He's a regular prince—and fascinating! I met him on the way to Florida last Winter, but I didn't let myself get too keen about him, then, for he hadn't a cent. He was attentive, but aunt couldn't see him in the picture—nor could I, when it got right down to hard tacks! I'm extravagant and I couldn't ever be a poor man's wife."

Luella gave a tiny shiver, drawing the gorgeous fur wrap tighter about her shoulders. She continued: "But this year, when we came by Atlanta on our way home from Aiken, what do you think had happened to him? An old father of his he hadn't seen in five years and who'd disapproved terribly of him because he wanted to go to Paris and paint, had gone and died on an estate he'd bought to retire to in his old age in Cuba, and as the older brother, a sort of black sheep had died in Australia five or six years ago, this son's the heir. It came right in the nick of time, because this trip I'm keener about him than ever, and he is on me, too and I simply couldn't have fought against it for much longer. A mercy isn't it?"

She rolled her pretty eyes dramatically. Then she added, as if it were an afterthought: "Phil's lungs aren't any too strong, since he was gassed way back in 1918, and in the Winters he gets a troublesome cough. So Cuba will just fit in for the smart season every year. I'll adore it too."

"Are you engaged to him?" queried Mary. She admired Luella's beauty, but somehow she felt a tiny bit sorry for the absent one. The words of the brown-eyed man came back to her aptly. He had said: "Money's rather beastly, when you come to think of it. Causes nearly all the trouble in the world."

In this instance it had brought Luella's beau within her shining or metallic radiance. Time alone would tell of trouble for the absent one lay there. . . .

"We're not definitely engaged," replied Luella archly, and with confidence. "But he's wild about me and on the boat—he's going to New York to see his lawyer on the same ship—I know he'll put the question. He's in love with me all right. He told me so only two nights ago in Atlanta. And he's honest as the day. Not an insincere thought in his head. You'll admire him awfully. Most girls do, but I'm the one he's crazy over. He thinks I'm a little plaster saint, and I believe I'll soon become one when we marry. He's the kind of a man that you simply must live up to. See?"

"You are very fortunate," said Mary, gently.

She said no more, but for a long time that night—as the train rattled and jolted toward the coast—Mary lay awake, thinking of Luella's words and still feeling sorry somehow for Luella's beau.

In the bustle of arrival at Savannah and the hurried transfer from train to hotel and thence to the steamship docks, she forgot the conversation of the night before. But when they had passed the barriers and were halfway across the gangway to the boat, it came back to her with lightning force. Luella suddenly grabbed Mary Forrest by the arm, at the same time waving her handbag towards a tall figure that was leaning over the ship's side, watching the new arrivals.

"Look, there he is—there's Phil Andover, my best beloved! Isn't he handsome and attractive! Look! He's seen us. No he hasn't. Yes he is waving. Hello, Phil—That's the man I'm going to marry!"

Mary Forrest looked. Her heart gave a great, agonizing thump and seemed to turn right around in her bosom.

For—

Luella's Best Beloved was none other than the brown-eyed, kind-eyed man of last week's wonderful adventure, the man who had filled Mary's sleeping and waking moments ever since!

chicken dinner was served at noon in the assembly room by the Women's Relief Corps. Baskets and bouquets of cosmos, zinnias, and other late summer bloom were used in profusion to decorate the rooms and tables.

Major John W. Prugh welcomed the visitors, extolling the service they had rendered the country, which service, he said, had made it possible for the country to celebrate Constitution Day, on September 17. He dwelt upon General Keifer's attendance and paid a tribute to him as not only a great Civil War general, but as one of the country's most important men since the Civil War.

G. W. Rosser, Greenville, responded to the welcome.

General Keifer's address was given in the afternoon, and a short talk was also made by the Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, who opened the morning and afternoon session with prayer and delivered the benediction. Instrumental music was given at both the morning and afternoon session by the Misses Marjorie and Lois Street, piano and cello; Mrs. Walter Wike, rattle bones; Mrs. Merritt, piano and Mrs. D. L. Crox, violin. A solo was sung by Mrs. Crox and a reading given by Mrs. J. C. Denham. Several of the veterans and their friends made brief talks. Revell was sounded by a bugler from the O. S. and S. O. Home.

S. D. Frank, of Troy, was elected president of the regimental as-

EAST END NEWS

Rev. A. L. Harris, of Chicago, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Everett, E. Second St., and other relatives.

The interest and attendance at the series of meetings this week at Zion Baptist Church, has been very good. Each service has had an inspiring message from the local ministers. Wednesday, the Rev. W. C. Allen, pastor of the Middle Run Baptist Church, spoke from the 46th Psalm and 5th verse. "God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved." Thursday evening the Rev. A. M. WARRANT ISSUED FOR EVANGELIST

BODY RECOVERED BY POLICE WHO KILLED TWO OF KIDNAPERS

Rosenthal's Son-In-Law, Collapsed, Identifies Three

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 17.—The murder of Jacob Rosenthal, 62, retired merchant of Woodmere, N. Y., by bandits has aroused the American colony here. Rosenthal's body was found only three miles from where he was kidnapped.

Three suspects have been identified by Joseph Stiff son-in-law of Rosenthal as being members of the bandit gang and are being brought here for trial. Two of the bandits were shot and killed by the police who recovered the American's body.

Search for remaining members of the gang is being made.

Ruff is in a serious condition in a hospital, having collapsed upon being informed of the fate of his father-in-law.

Bandits kidnapped Rosenthal Sunday from a party of relatives with whom he was returning here from Cuernavaca when they realized that police pretending the paying $10,000 ransom had tricked them.

Two policemen carrying a bag, presumably holding the money but in reality loaded with iron bars, met the bandits near Cuernavaca.

Instead of handing over the bag the police opened fire. Two of the bandits were killed. The others, hiding nearby, plunged their knives into the American's body, beat him over the head with their rifles and fled.

The body of Rosenthal will be brought here today after a post-mortem at Cuernavaca.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The basis of Federal reports of the murder of Jacob Rosenthal, wealthy New Yorker by Mexican bandits, secretary of state Kellogg, today urged the Calles Government to punish the culprits.

Because of vigorous efforts by Federal Mexican authorities, already resulting in capture of two of the six Rosenthal kidnappers, the government has decided not to send the customary protest against Mexican banditry.

The United States may, however, file a claim for damages in the Rosenthal case with the existing mixed claims commission.

BLIMP WILL MAKE ITS LONGEST FLIGHT

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 17.—The RS-1, the largest airship in the army will take off at 5 o'clock tonight from Scott field for the longest trip it has made since it was built last January.

The big ship will make the first stop on its 1,200 mile flight at Detroit, where its crew will try out the new Ford mooring mast.

From there the ship will fly to Chicago and return to Scott Field Tuesday.

Col. Paegelow said the ship would be flown at cruising speed to Detroit, arriving there about sunrise tomorrow. If the mooring proves satisfactory, the ship will remain in Detroit over Saturday and Sunday, leaving Sunday night for Chicago and St. Louis.

AIR-MAIL FLYER USES PARACHUTE

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 17.—Air-mail pilot Charles A. Lindbergh, flying from St. Louis to Chicago, was safe here today after leaping from his plane from an altitude of 4,000 feet and floating to earth with a parachute last night.

It is one of the few parachute jumps ever accomplished at night and is said to be by far the farthest plunge ever taken from a plane at night.

The jump was made necessary when Lindbergh's gasoline supply was exhausted and an inky black fog made it impossible for him to find a landing place.

Three sacks of mail were recovered and sent to Chicago by train.

BLAME TOOTHACHE FOR MAN'S SUICIDE

KENTON, O., Sept. 17.—The tedious gnawing pain of a toothache was responsible for the death of Karl Sherman, 22, who shot himself through the heart at his home here.

Aggravation brought on from the additional pain from a bad tooth after a year's illness caused Sherman to take his life, according to his family. A note was found by his sister saying he was about to kill himself because of the toothache.

BLUE EYES PRODUCT OF PERFECT HEALTH DOCTOR ANNOUNCES

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 17.—Your health determines whether you have blue, green, gray, hazel, black or brown eyes, Dr. J. D. Levine, editor of a health publication, declared in a talk here.

If your eyes are blue with a silken finish you are in perfect health, Dr. Levine said. Abnormal states of body and nerves are responsible for all other colors, he declared.

"Every child is born with blue eyes," Dr. Levine said. "Even negro children at birth have grayish-blue eyes, never a deep dark brown. Changes from blue to green, gray, hazel, brown and other colors are not due to racial, political, religious, climatic, or accidental considerations but to states caused by toxins, acids, inflammations or congestions in the body."

"Ninety percent of the people have brown eyes, which show the presence of toxins. The color may be changed by abstinence from certain food."

"The Irish of the old country are blue-eyed because they are forced to live on a strict diet, frequently and fortunately nothing but potatoes and buttermilk."

INDICTED BY JURY CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 17.—Emil "Frenchy" Blenscu, medical student has been charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Dorothy Kirk, his sweetheart three weeks ago, by the grand jury investigating her death.

RELATIONS OF DAUGHERTY AND JESS SMITH AIRED AT TRIAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The relations of Harry M. Daugherty and the late Jess Smith, formed the subject of testimony at the opening of today's session of the Daugherty-Miller trial.

Charles E. Stewart, who since 1914 has survived all changes of administration and served continuously as an assistant attorney general, testified that he first met Smith on the day of Warren G. Harding's inauguration as president.

DYNAMITE THROWN ON FIRE; THREE HURT

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 17.—As a result of throwing dynamite caps on a bonfire three boys were seriously injured here. Carl Harris, six and Russell Reigler, 5, will probably lose their eye sight and Water Darsfelder, 14, the third boy received burns about the body. They had been roasting corn on the bonfire.

EIGHT FOOTBALL PLAYERS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION AT OSBORN

Bath High Gridders Victims When Autos Collide—Oris Dyer In Dayton Hospital—Has Skull Fracture

Eight Bath High School students enroute to football practice were injured, two seriously when the touring car in which they were riding upset following a collision with a coupe at Central Ave., and Xenia Drive in Osborn at 3:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Oris Dyer, hurled from the running board of the car against a telephone pole, was the most seriously hurt. At Miami Valley Hospital where he was taken in a Morris and Sons undertaking establishment ambulance, it was ascertained he is suffering from concussion of the brain and was still unconscious Friday. It was first thought he had sustained a fractured skull.

Just Ford, driver of the car, received three broken ribs while the remaining six suffered minor injuries. All occupants of the car were thrown out when the crash occurred.

Lewis Campbell, Osborn, driver of the second car, was not hurt. Others injured were Roy Bootes, Redmond Cogan, James Boyd, Marvin Kniesley, Ernest Smith and Arthur Ray.

It was reported the fault lay with the touring car, which it is alleged, failed to comply with the village traffic regulations, by not stopping at the intersection with Xenia

Drive, as Central Ave. had been designated as a stop street.

The touring car was proceeding on Central Ave. and the coupe on Xenia Drive.

The touring car was packed with football players while three were riding on the running boards. The eight were hurled to the ground along the road and scattered in every direction.

The father of one member of the party, Redmond Cogan, is chief chemist at the Southwestern Portland Cement Co. plant in Osborn.

MURDERS WIFE "FOR LOVE" NOTE STATES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 17.—Sales Loney, 45, yesterday shot his wife to death. "For love," he told "their two children in a message found in the house after he fired a bullet through his hat and stabbed himself probably fatally in his throat."

The tragedy took place in the front yard of the Loney home in Shippingport, and followed a quarrel which had its origin in the wife taken out a security warrant for the husband.

Loney and his wife had been sitting in a lawn swing arguing. Suddenly Loney jerked out a pistol and fired three bullets into her chest in rapid succession. Mrs. Loney slumped to the floor board of the swing, dying instantly.

Loney arose and, aiming the weapon at his own head, fired once, the bullet piercing his hat, knocking it from his head, narrowly missing sending him to his doom.

Witnesses said Loney bent over his wife's body, kissed it, arose, pulled out a knife and slashed himself.

Mrs. Loney swore to security warrant for her husband, September 1, and although he had returned home daily, it was not until Wednesday that police were able to serve it upon him. He was to have been arraigned in Police Court Thursday morning, but failed to appear, and before police had been instructed to go out and bring him in he slew his wife.

First Englishman Swims Channel

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Norman Derham, an Englishman, completed a swim across the English Channel today and won $5,000 offered by Lord Riddell, owner of the "News of the World," for any citizen of Great Britain who could better George Ederle's time for the crossing.

Derham came ashore at St. Margaret's bay near Dover at 10:57 a. m. today, thirteen hours and fifty-six minutes after entering the water at Cape Gris Nez, France.

Miss Ederle's time across the channel on August 6, was fourteen hours and thirty-one minutes.

Derham was the third Englishman to swim the channel, the others being Captain Webb, the first person to achieve the feat, who crossed in 1875 and Bill Burgess who crossed in 1911. Between the latter date and the beginning of the 1926 swimming season, Charles Tuth and Henry Sullivan, Americans and Enrique Tiraboschi, an Argentinean swam the channel.

General Keifer Is Speaker—Troy Man Heads Body

General J. Warren Keifer, Springfield, one of the few living generals of the Civil War, and a nonagenarian, addressed the falling remnants of his once gallant troops when ten veterans and a small group of widows and other relatives of veterans of the One Hundred and Tenth Regiment, O. V. I., gathered here Thursday for their fifty-fifth annual reunion.

General Keifer, still vigorous despite the years weighing on his shoulders, reminisced of the days when his brave boys in blue had outwitted rebel forces and gained many a victory for the Union in the dark times of the Civil War.

When he had answered the final roll call, the general said, he wished to be laid beside the grave of his wife amid familiar scenes of his home city instead of being buried with the nation's dead in Arlington cemetery.

Ten veterans and eight widows of veterans were in the group that spent the day together.

The business session and program was held in G. A. R. post hall in the Court House, and a

PERJURY CHARGE IS MADE AGAINST MRS. M'PHERSON, OTHERS

Mother, Ormiston, Mrs. Wiseman and Lawyer To Be Arrested

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—Warrants for the arrest of Aimee Semple McPherson and four others on three counts of an alleged conspiracy to obstruct justice were issued at the district attorney's office today.

The warrants, signed by District Attorney Asa Keyes, charged perjury and preparation of false evidence and were the climax of a long investigation of the Evangelist's story of kidnapping and imprisonment.

Others named in the warrants were Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus Temple; Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the Evangelist's mother; Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman and "John Doe" Martin.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 17.—Arrest of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, famous evangelist, her mother and three other principals in the investigation of her kidnapping story was expected today.

Warrants charging five persons with perjury in affidavits and in testimony before the grand jury which investigated the alleged abduction have been prepared by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

MORE PERJURY TAKE THREE

Keyes said the papers would not be served until completion of an investigation in which he expects to prove Mrs. McPherson's account of abduction into the Mexican desert last May was a "grand hoax." The investigation, however, would be only a matter of hours, Keyes said.

Those named in the warrants besides the religious leader, were her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaff, Kenneth G. Ormiston and "John Doe" Martin, an attorney.

Keyes said that Mrs. McPherson conspired with Mrs. Sellaff, Martin, and Mrs. Kennedy to manufacture evidence in support of the kidnapping story.

Keyes believes that during the time she was supposed to be a captive she was in Carmel-by-the-Sea, near here, at a love nest with Ormiston, who formerly was radio operator at Angelus Temple.

ALMOST 16 MILLION INVESTED IN OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17.—The state of Ohio on June 30 had an investment of $15,783,816.99 in the Ohio State University. It is disclosed in the university's annual financial report transmitted by the trustees to Governor Donahay and made public today. This figure is an increase of $1,720,806.45 over that of last year.

Value of the university's assets has practically tripled in the last fifteen years the report, prepared by Carl E. Steeb, business manager, shows. In 1912 the investment including endowments, land, buildings and equipment, was worth approximately $5,440,075. Five years later it was only $7,318,000.

Present value of the educational plant itself is given as $14,110,433.89. Of this amount $2,153,561.61 is credited to lands, $8,236,142.53 to buildings and approximately $1,500,000 more to roads, tunnels, walks, a bridge, and the like. Educational equipment of the university is listed at $2,632,465.02.

Gain in the assets of the university resulted in part from the completion of seven important buildings which had been under construction during the previous year. Increase in the land holdings of the institution was valued at $159,030.

Endowment funds of the university, included in the irreducible debt of the state, grew during the year from $1,061,969 to $1,103,011. Gifts and other additions to the endowment funds for general and for special purposes totalled approximately $80,000.

The university now owns 1108 acres of land. The value given is the appraised worth, but the actual value probably is much greater than that listed, on the basis of current local real estate prices. The university now possesses seventy-nine buildings of every description. These include thirty-nine used for instruction, four hospital buildings, two dormitories, six residences, fourteen stables, barns and other farm structures, and eleven others such as the Administration Building, the power houses, and the Ohio Union.

M. McKay, president of the federation. The drive will take place Thursday, September 23.

One thousand dollars has been set for the goal, but the P. T. A. is hopeful that the result will exceed that sum making skipping of the work less necessary. The annual campaign has usually yielded about $1500.

Campaign headquarters will be established in the basement of the Court House, and committees which will start work at 9 o'clock will report at headquarters as fast as they have completed their solicitations. Each branch P. T. A. has appointed women to cover the separate districts.

The funds are used for the purpose of providing shoes and necessary clothing for children whose parents are unable to provide properly for them, and food for undernourished children attending the various public schools as well as the Opportunity School children who do not obtain their meals at home.

GOSHEN, Ind., Sept. 17.—Four prisoners early this morning sawed their way out of the Elkhart County jail, the second delivery within little more than two weeks. Four prisoners escaped August 29, three of them were captured, the fourth, Curley Hunt, a South Bend negro, is still at large.

One of the prisoners who escaped in the first delivery and was caught hiding behind tombstones in Oak Ridge Cemetery here, again gained his liberty this morning. He is Roy Merz, 25. The other fugitives are Thomas O'Brien, also known as Thomas Young, who was to have gone on trial in Elkhart, September 27, charged with having murdered Louis Kreidler, South Bend druggist, Russell Frandall, sixteen years old, alleged check forger and Lloyd Robert Bowman, 22, charged with motor theft.

Eighteen prisoners who had access to the small opening through which the four gained their freedom did not take advantage of it, remaining behind because they could not squeeze through the hole in the window bars.

HORSE KILLS ITSELF

TIFFIN, O., Sept. 17.—A collision here between two horses resulted in the death of one of the animals. One of the horses, becoming frightened, ran wild through the streets sending pedestrians scurrying for shelter. At a street intersection the horse crashed head-on with another horse and fell dead with a broken neck. Both drivers escaped injury.

PASSING OF GRANGE DOES NOT MEAN END OF ALL GRID STARS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 17.—The passing of "Red" Grange from the field of amateur football does not mean the passing of all individual stars from the collegiate ranks, is the opinion of "Bob" Zupke, head coach at the University of Illinois and the developer of Grange.

Preparing today for the first practice of the 1926 Illini—a team which has been referred to as the "Grangeless Illini"—Zupke smiled when it was mentioned that Grange's passing meant the end of individual stars.

"Maybe there won't be any one so good as Grange in some time," Zupke said. "However, there will be stars now as always before."

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 63

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for forty-seven years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils. While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. W. B. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never grips, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Zupke, considered to have one of the keenest football minds in the Big Ten conference, is directing his forces towards creation of another player who will reef off great yardage against the opponents. He has Lanum, Timm and Peters from last year's sophomores. All give promise of being future "Greats" in Big Ten football circles.

"We will at least have a rounded backfield this fall and it would not be surprising if we had some stars," Zupke said.

OLD BEANS TO BE PLANTED

We read in the local newspapers that in 1924 a jar containing beans, estimated to be 1,000 years old was discovered in an Aztec tomb in Mexico. A Colorado rancher is said to have obtained 27 beans which grew last year from some of the original beans planted in Mexico. He intends to plant them and as they are described as a desert bean "growing in dry soil and thriving on drouth," yet yielding four times the volume of the ordinary Mexican bean, he expects to secure good returns.

Generally it is presumed that the germ in a seed will not retain its vitality longer than a few years, but that theory was disposed a few years ago when seeds taken from the desert of Gobi were treated at Johns Hopkins University for the purpose of removing the cement-like incrustation with which the centuries had enveloped it, and it later germinated. Dry countries are more likely to produce longevity in seeds than are those where it rains frequently.

COST OF SICKNESS

When one considers that the expenditure, whether by municipalities or by individuals, for recreation is usually for the purpose of improving the health, or of keeping one fit, it is interesting to compare the amount of money spent on account of sickness. In all the United States last year more than $2,000,000 in lost wages and medical bills was the cost of sickness. It is estimated that the loss of an equally large sum was occasioned by premature deaths.

Scarcely fifty cents per capita, it is claimed is spent on behalf of public health. The total amount spent last year for that purpose was $60,000,000. This represents the sum spent for the prevention of disease. A life insurance statistician recently stated that expert opinion is that an expenditure of $2 per capita, directed against preventable diseases and for health education would reduce the annual death rate two points per 1,000 and correspondingly increase the expectancy of life by possibly five years. The value of an added year of life, he said, is estimated at $1,000 at least, so that should the 117,000,000 American lives be each extended for a period of five years the net monetary value of such increase would amount to six billion of dollars, which would be added to the value of the living capital of the United States.

Another way of looking at it is that if rational recreation, regular exercise and a reasonable sum expended for prevention of disease, will bring about such results, the amount one might earn in the extra five years of added life would more than make up for the time he spends in taking the exercise, and the sum he spends on them.

UNIFORM AUTO SIGNALS

The American Automobile association has interested itself in another campaign of importance to the car drivers. It is urging a uniform system of hand signals throughout the country. Whatever system prevails now is largely a matter of individual action. No general code has ever been approved or put into practice. In making turns, most drivers have been able to make known their intentions by extending their hands. That serves sufficiently when traffic is not congested, but it hardly fits the needs when the highways are crowded.

The automobile association proposes the following signal code to replace the varied ones which now exist:

These signals have been tried out in sections of the country, and have been used to some extent by tri-city motorists. It is not of real importance what particular signals are used. The main need is to have a universal system, understood by all and put in practice in every section of the country. The proposals made by the association are simple and easily understood. If they are universally adopted, it is safe to say many of the accidents which result from careless turning on and off highways, would be avoided.

WORLD POPULATION TO DATE

The most recent estimate of the population of the world places the total at 1,849,500,000 of which 825,000,000 are Caucasians, 680,000,000 Mongolians, 210,000,000 Negroes, 104,500,000 Malays and 30,000,000 Indians. There are over 100,000,000 Jews in the world.

According to continents the population of the world is divided approximately as follows: Africa, 150,000,000; North America, 140,000,000; South America, 70,000,000; Asia, 981,600,000; Australia, 12,000,000; Europe, 498 million.

Figuring the density of population, of the number of inhabitants to the square mile, it is interesting to find that Europe has a much denser population than has Asia, notwithstanding the great numbers of people in China and India. In Africa there are about 13 per square mile; in North America, 17; South America, 9; Asia, 56; Australia, 3; Europe, 125. Total average density for the whole world, 32.5.

From the above figures it will be observed that North America has not even the average for the world. For the United States the density is approximately 28, still less than the average for the entire world, but only half what it is for Asia and less than one-fourth of what it is for Europe.

America is now exporting 29,000,000 false teeth annually, which is an improvement on the old custom of using them to fit up new laws.

East Side - West Side
—OF—
New York

By Jack O'Donnell

One of the best customers of a public market in lower New York is a business man from Jersey who buys fresh vegetables, loads them on a light truck, drives to his "farm," arranges them neatly on a stand by the road, and sells them to tourists and motorists at a price plenty high enough to pay him for the trouble of getting them.

Barnum was right.

Out-of-towners are often confused when they try for the first time to drive their motor cars in New York. Their courage usually stays with them until they cross to the island itself, and become swallowed up in the noises of the dense downtown districts.

There is such a variety of noises! One of the funniest sights is to see a man ston his car underneath the Elevated structure, get out, and look at all his tires. The poor startled fellow imagines he has a puncture because the train in rumbling above him, has released an air brake. This hissing noise sounds for all the world like a tire gone wrong.

arrested for driving a horseless carriage in Central Park. Today, when most carriages are horseless—one still stands a good chance of running afoul of the law. Twenty-five miles an hour is the dead limit, and motorcycle cops on muffled red machines have a way of appearing suddenly from behind bushes.

On Fifth Avenue, quite the contrary, the motorist may go thirty-five or forty (provided he is skillful enough to manage it) and the police never bat an eye. They're glad to get rid of him—it relieves traffic. But in the Park, traffic falls into a lazy drifting sort of gait, in keeping both with the law and the locality; even the gaudy taxis lapse from their customary restlessness.

It's one of the few places in New York where you're not allowed to hurry.

Farmers will be glad to hear this one. The other day I was driving a friend of mine—a New Yorker by birth—into the country. We passed a pasture where a herd of Holsteins were grazing. My city-bred companion, who can tell you the middle name of a hundred head-waiters, spied the cows and in great astonishment called out: "Look—see how they are branded, all alike, with a stripe around the stomach!"

CUCUMBER OIL PICKLES
A reader friend has written me to ask for an article on cucumber oil pickles, which are so delicious that I believe that many other women will wish to try them.

Cucumber Oil Pickles: Wash one peck of large gherkins and slice into a large receptacle. Into the same container slice one quart and one pint of large pickling onions; mix the two vegetables well, cover them with brine strong enough to float an egg, and let stand untouched over night (or for twelve or fourteen hours). Now drain well. Pack the drained mixture in sterilized glass jars (quart size), adding two cups of cider vinegar and one-half cup of olive oil to each jarful of the pickles. After mixing the two liquids together as follows: Bring the vinegar to the boiling point with one heaping tablespoon of celery, one

Some blades of grass are tall,
Some rich with green,
Some seem so very small,
Some harsh and mean.

Stand close and you may see
The patches of despair;
The difference in degree
Of wealth that's there.

Stand off at dusk or dawn
And every single blade
Blends to a velvet lawn
That life has made.

The cutter comes and mows
The rich blade and the tall,
No favorite he knows,
He levels one and all.

So with the world of men,
Stand close and shame we see,
Plainly we notice then
The difference in degree.

But from the distance viewed,
Even as lawns grow fair,
The great, the low, the rude
A lovely grace may wear.

And death, the cutter, mows
Alike the great and small,

CO-EDS ARRAIGNED
SEVERELY IN PAPER
PRINTED BY CHURCH

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—American college co-eds are indicted as gin drinking, licentious animals in the current number of "The Witnens," magazine, semi-officially sponsored by the Episcopal Church of America, just issued. The charge against the co-eds was written by W. O. Cross, who graduated from the University of Illinois in June.

"The invasion by women of the university has made drinking a part of dating, which also includes dancing and petting," he charges. "Women now participate in drinking bouts to an extent, which to the uninitiated is astounding."

Cross then described an orgy he says he witnessed on a sleeping coach, enroute to a football game last fall. "Colleagues of both sexes most of whom were quite drunk, staged a pajama dance in the aisles between sleeper berths. "Inevitably many of the men shared berths with co-eds—that was a general condition pervading three long sleepers. That affair was exceptional only because it presented an exceptional opportunity to develop an ordinary tendency to licentiousness."

"The inebriated women is a bundle of animality," he continued, "mixed drinking begins with a little party after the dance, the petting session, and after inhibitions have been lulled and passions stirred by sensual music."

Drinking in student days has been a tradition Cross' article asserts, but since the participation of the college woman it has become a bacchanalia, he concludes. "As one man puts it, 'women have descended to the bestiality of men'."

WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY

Wilberforce University is the result of a most notable effort of the negro in America at self-development.

It began September 21, 1844 with the appointment of a committee "to select a tract of land for the purpose of erecting a seminary of learning, on the Manual Labor plan for the instruction of youth among us, in the various branches of literature, science, agriculture and mechanic arts; and also for those young men who may desire to prepare their minds for the work of the ministry."

In 1847 Union Seminary, twelve miles from Columbus, began a humble yet relatively important career. In 1856 the M. E. Church laid the foundation of Wilberforce University.

Students by the score came from the South into the free state of Ohio. Students by the score returned with education from surroundings, as well as from science, for Wilberforce began, and has continued, a Southern school on Northern soil.

The university passed into possession and under the control of colored men in 1863. Two years later it lay in ashes, on the very day of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln.

Arrangements for re-building were begun at once, yet thirteen years of arduous effort were required for its completion.

GREENE COUNTIAN
SHEEP SHOW WINNER

In the competition for sheep at the International livestock show at Philadelphia, Pa., Thursday, H. H. Cherry, Federal Pike, won the grand championship for rams in the Hampshire.

By winning thirty-seven prizes, Everett King, Ankeny, Ia., established a new record in exhibitions of this kind. Of this number, fourteen were for first place. His entries made a clean sweep in the class for Belgian horses, his three-year-old Jupiter Marie capturing the grand championship.

The Theatre

One of the greatest actors of the present has neither play, company, booking, stage, screen or box-office. He does not perform in a theater or before a camera and does not entertain a paid audience. He is Luke Barnett, who has raised practical joking to an art.

The other day at an exclusive Manhattan party, a bungling butler trod viciously on the toes of an important guest. The guest, with rare self-control, contained his temper. Still later the awkward insult was repeated, this time accompanied by a hissed: "You, pull your feet in."

The guest, rightly incensed, boiled over. But it was later revealed that the blundering butler was Barnett, retained at great expense by the host to furnish his unusual laugh-provoking entertainment for the guests.

Barnett operates by assuming the character usually of a servant. In this capacity, mingling freely with the guests, he selects certain of them as the butt of disparaging and insulting remarks. The unfortunate victim feels uncomfortable, reddens, finally explodes. The laugh is on him when Barnett's identity is revealed.

When capitalists are dining, Barnett, acting as a waiter, utters up strife with jibes about capital and labor. On one occasion he started an argument with a guest which developed into a threatened strike. Barnett called all the waiters for a walk-out and then agreed to permit arbitration. The resultant debate with a capitalist-guest was what is termed in the theatrical circles as a "wow."

If the gathering is patriotic, Barnett will represent himself to be a Communist and launch into a Red speech. The resultant fight resembles a busy night in the Argonne. Frequently he has had narrow escapes and on some occasions has been struck by offended guests whom he offended before his identity could be revealed.

A simple expedient Barnett uses is to pose as a German waiter at a private dinner. He picks out the guest of honor and each time he passes his chair, he comments on the guest's table etiquette. "The wrong fork, please," he will hiss, using an accent. "The other spoon, sir," he will say a moment later. He not only spoils the guest's dinner but almost starts a riot.

Several years ago he attended a hunting party in Pennsylvania. Col. Joe Thompson, a relative of Treasurer-nominee Helen Dodds, was in the party. Barnett, selecting a healthy guest, went hunting with him. Some distance from camp Barnett fell and complained that he had broken his leg and couldn't walk. The victim carried Barnett seven miles back to camp and when informed of the hoax had to be restrained from doing him bodily harm.

Barnett works without the aid of stage properties, make-up, footlights or other mechanical devices other than the type of clothing he chooses to wear. The fact that his characterizations are always convincing proves him, to be a capable actor.

There is no happiness so great as that which comes when you feel that you have given happiness to someone to whom you least expected to give it.

One of the most beautiful letters I have received recently came from a man who was in jail. I prize it greatly. Today one came to me from a 22-year-old girl who merely signed her letter "Dorothy, one of the millions." She told me not to get discouraged, to "carry on" to be assured that these simple little Talks helped her at last.

It was the pride of Jesus that he could reach and touch the simple folks, the fisherman, the unknown, and the despised.

I have talked with a great many famous and useful writers and they tell me that their greatest happiness comes from the appreciation of those least expected to express their appreciation.

I want to thank Dorothy in this public way, wherever she lives for her gentle and thoughtful letter. She is a type that every writer would want to help.

Wouldn't it be very wonderful if this little Talk might search out a million other Dorothys and encourage them to say kind and helpful things to those most near.

It isn't what we do half as much as what we are able to inspire others to do that counts most in this world. In the end, fame and applause are quite empty. The lasting thing is what happens after you have passed on.

I passed by a tomb the other day that holds the ashes of America's greatest men. In thousands of schools every day in the year, teachers are telling boys and girls of the nobleness of this man who rose from poverty to the highest position in the gift of the nation. Death doesn't remove the character. Both are as immortal as the simplest good deed.

I shall never see "Dorothy," but I shall carry her thoughtfulness and encouraging words around with me forever.

Modish Mitzi AN ENSEMBLE THAT CAN GO ANYWHERE Jay V. Jay

Polly and Mitzi are wishing that they could see more of Minneapolis. Just now they are admiring the Institute of Arts. Mitzi appreciates the arts indeed she does. She may not be an artist in the true sense of the word but she loves to make pictures. Nothing delights her more than to have black and white gloves match a black and white hat.

Polly has found the way to Nokomis Beach, one of the popular beaches of the city. Polly for the first time is wishing that she might change her smart high crowned hat pointed at the top for a snug fitting diving cap. Minneapolis has many beaches, and Polly would like to linger and enjoy this one. Mitzi has other plans.

"It is the Mississippi," argues Polly. "All the water that flows under that bridge is the Mississippi," she insists. Mitzi wants to know why she thinks so. Well, the map says so which settles it. The argument gives Mitzi the opportunity of gesticulating with her bag which matches her hat, please notice.

Mitzi's feet have warned her that they will not take her another step in Minneapolis. "I thought, Mitzi you said you could go anywhere in that smart ensemble outfit of gloves, pocket and slippers," slyly reminds Polly. "Well, anywhere isn't everywhere and that's where we've been," wearily replies Mitzi.

Cardinals Tie Reds With Double Victory

The St. Louis Cardinals smothered the Phillies under scores of 23 to 3 and 10 to 2 in the twin bill Thursday while the Reds were stretching their winning streak to eight games at the expense of New York 3 to 0, and closed the half-game gap separating them from the league leadership.

By the double victory St. Louis drew exactly on even terms with the Reds in the dash toward pennantville in the ever-tightening National League chase.

Pittsburgh faded entirely out of the figuring by losing to Brooklyn 2 to 1.

Both the Reds and Cardinals have major league enagements, and the teams will wind up the season facing each other in a single game, which according to present indications, may decide the pennant.

The weather will also cut a large figure in the outcome as postponements at this stage of the race would seriously hurt either team and prove almost as damaging a setback as the loss of a contest.

Cincinnati showed no indications of merciful intent in the opening number of the three-game series with the terrible Giants who have been rank poison to the noble Hendricks crew this year.

Pete Donohue was in fine fettle and gave his best exhibition of the year. He granted four blows and not a Giant player saw the second station. Timely bunching of the six safeties coupled with passes and erratic fielding produced the trio of tallies.

Friday again found Cincinnati in the dangerous position that a defeat will undoubtedly mean the loss of first place as Philadelphia has proven itself unequal to the feat of stopping the rampaging Cardinals.

Adolphe Luque, who is always at his best against New York and who has also been pitching at the top of his wonderful form will be sent after the Friday contest. He will have to be good as the veteran Hugh McMillan will work for the McGraw men.

The table below indicates how the Reds and Cardinals, chief contenders in the National League race will stand after Friday's games with the Giants and Phillies:

CEDARVILLE GRID HOPES HIGH AS COACH BORSI TAKES CHARGE

More than a ray of hope for a winning football combination this fall is held out by Coach Borsi, new athletic director at Cedarville College, which opens an ambitious eight game schedule at Cincinnati against St. Xavier College September 25.

Borsi is a product of Wittenberg College. He has been putting a squad of thirty-five candidates through light practice sessions this week, stressing fundamentals.

Cedarville will be called upon to play probably the most difficult scheduling in the history of the college, meeting Ohio Conference teams and others of conference caliber.

Five letter men are available. Coach Borsi will have veteran guards and tackles and a half back but development of the backfield, ends and center is the main worry confronting him.

Prospects of a strong line will be increased this week with the arrival of Captain Brown, veteran tackle. The coach is satisfied his forward wall will work into a smoothly running machine.

The quarterback berth with Tidd, former Stivers High star, ready for action and the ends with Kenney, Wellsville, O., and Béchere, Steele High, fighting for the call, seem well taken care of.

Leifer and Swartzbaugh, Stivers High; Meyers and Dutton, Steele High; Thomas, Roosevelt; Dunley, Steele, and Loyons, Van Lear high are other likely aspirants.

Letter men back to form the nucleus of the team besides Captain Brown include Snell and Jacobs, guards; Rockhold, tackle, and Orr, halfback.

Cedarville fans are looking forward to a great season for the college this fall.

Schedule follows:

Sept. 25.—St. Xavier at Cincinnati.

Oct. 2.—Earlham at Richmond, Ind.

Oct. 9.—Bowling Green at Bowling Green.

Oct. 16.—Capital at Columbus.

Oct. 23.—Rio Grande at Cedarville.

Oct. 30.—Defiance at Defiance.

Nov. 6.—Antioch (tentative).

Nov. 13.—Bluffton at Cedarville.

Nov. 20.—Open.

OHIO COACHES SEEK END, TACKLE, AND CRACK BACKFIELD

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Ohio State football coaches are combing the candidates who reported to Coach Jack Wilce, for an end, a tackle and for a high-powered back field combination.

An end is needed to fill Captain "Cookie" Cunningham's place. A regular tackle must be found to take the place of Johnny Nichols, who held the position for three years. Both graduated this spring.

A good backfield combination is being sought by the coaches and recruits are vying with veterans for the positions.

Rookie end men in line for the job left vacant by Cunningham include George Albers former Toledo Scott High star; Cyril Surina of Cleveland and others. Albers especially looks promising.

Four "O" men are back and battling hard for the tackle position. They are Leo Uridal, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Frank Jackson, Ashabula, Fred Mackey, Gallon, and Tim McCarthy, Fremont.

Without any additions from the freshman ranks, the Buckeyes could place two veteran backfields in the play tomorrow if necessary.

One backfield could include Bill Hunt, Myers Clark, Elmer Marek and Captain Marty Karow. In reserve might be Robin Bell, Bruce Blanchard, Freddie Grim and Ted Heronemus.

Men coming up will strengthen the back field considerably. Byron Iby of Chillicothe, last year's freshman captain is expected to be the star of the new crop. Harold Kruskamp, Wellston; "Red" Oshner, Columbus; Howard Kriss, Cleveland, and "Bud" McMillen, Bellepoint, are others. McMillen came without high school football experience but developed rapidly last fall as a full-back.

HERMAN FRANK CONTINUES TO LEAD RESERVE HEAVY HITTERS

Despite a sustained batting slump Herman Frank, brother of the famous Dayton catcher, continues as the leading Reserve hitter with an imposing mark of .466.

Chet Cyphers, breaking into the lineup last week, took a new lease on life and by crashing out three safeties, boosted his season's average to .379 for second place.

The team as a whole is still hitting above the coveted .300 mark by five points, a drop of four percentage points in the past two weeks.

Jesse Chambliss's boys have failed to find their batting eyes to any great extent in the present series with the Merchants but nevertheless are winning with regularity.

In twenty-three contests this season

DAILY WORKOUTS IN ORDER FOR WESTERN CONFERENCE TEAMS

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Full daily workouts for each of the ten teams in the Western Conference planned by coaches for the next fortnight were under full swing today. Until the opening of the universities, the squads are to be allowed morning and afternoon workouts but with the first classes, the new ruling limiting practice to two hours a day will go into effect.

Some 700 men who turned out yesterday were given sues and warming up exercises in the ten grid camps. At Northwestern,

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite ran his men through signal practice in the morning and held a light scrimmage in the afternoon. At Purdue, Coach Jimmy Phelan followed the same program.

At Michigan, Coach Yost gave lessons in punting, sidestepping, passing and running with the ball and followed this with a lecture on fundamentals. Captain Benry

Friedman and "Bo" Molenda formed the nucleus for his back field and with his ends back he spent most of his time looking for men to plug the center of his line devastated from tackle to tackle by graduation.

Wisconsin sent fifty-four picked candidates through a drill in the rain, and fourteen of these including Captain Doyle Harmon, were letter men.

At Illinois the backfield of Daugherty, a veteran and Lanum, Timm and Peters, sophomores, about whom Coach Zappke, has indicated he will build his attack went through signals, after the latter had outlined his plans for the season.

At Ohio State, Coach Jack Wilce entered his fourteenth year with sixty Buckeye candidates to work on. Among the outstanding backs were Captain Marty Karow, Elmer Marek, Bill Clark and Bill Hunt. Big Ed Hess, all-American guard was also on deck. The word has gone out that Wilce has been given just one year to produce another team that will rank way up in the conference and Ohio fans believe he has the material to do it with this fall.

Nick Kutsch failed to report at Iowa in time to work out and

"Bab" Cuhel, famous Hawkeye

trackman was given the brunt of the ball carrying assignment.

Captain Paul Smith worked at end despite an injured knee.

At Minnesota, the first of the closed practice sessions was held.

Captain Roger Wheeler at end was ill and unable to play. Herb

Joesting the big full back and "Shorty" Almqvist must remove conditions by taking examinations before they can play, it was announced.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Dreams of C. C. Pyle about the possibility of open or professional tennis in the United States will prove more of a nightmare to the officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association since Miss Mary K. Browne, former American champion, joined Mile, Suzanne Lenglen under Pyle's management.

The thought behind the present deliberations of the association is not the immediate effect of the desertion of the amateur ranks by two such high ranking women players but the influence it will have on other stars, especially if Pyle's experiment proves a success.

"I have worked enough for tennis. Let tennis work some for me," Mile, Lenglen said when she accepted the offer to turn professional. Miss Browne expressed the same feeling in almost the same words and if other high ranking players decide to let tennis contribute openly to their support, the big stadium at Forest Hills will have to be made available for open or professional tennis or it will almost have to have a certain for movies.

When Pyle announced from Paris that he had signed a contract with Mile, Lenglen, the association laughed it off. "Where will she play in the United States and against whom will she play?"

they asked.

When Pyle added the announcement that he would recruit a whole team of players for an invasion of the United States, the idea was again ridiculed and a list of the high ranking players that he could not get was called.

But when the announcement followed that Miss Browne had decided to turn professional, official tennis was horrified and refused to comment. The intimation was offered that Miss Browne had been too close to the game, its officials and its best players to make any kind of a statement that might offend her.

Pyle started something when he got the idea that star tennis players in the professional field could make as much money for him and for themselves as Red Grange did on the football field. And it looks now as if Pyle will be able to finish what he started.

Amateur tennis in the United States can offend Mile, Lenglen but it cannot offend Miss Browne because the tennis public thinks just as much, if not more, of Mary Browne than it thinks of the association.

If the attacks are carried too far on Mile, Lenglen she may speak up and say the same things right out loud about amateur tennis that have been whispered for years and that are becoming louder each year. Miss Browne might be able to say some things too but she is too much of a sports-woman to engage in controversy unless she is forced to do it in self-defense.

The association must have realized, after the handful of spectators who saw the women's national championship and the final round of the Davis Cup eliminations between France and Japan that it is the player and not the game that attracts the ordinary citizen and it is the ordinary citizen who has to support the game in these big stadium days.

Miss Browne, in the women's tennis, will be respected more than she ever has been before. She never has made anything out of tennis, directly or indirectly, and she has given much of her time to its promotion.

That is more than can be said of some of the members of the official family.

ANNUAL FINANCIAL DRIVE FOR OPPORTUNITY SCHOOL PLANNED

Annual drive of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association for funds to finance certain charities in connection with the Opportunity School will be held next Thursday, September 23, it is announced. The association has set a goal of $1,000 for the one-day drive, during which a house to house canvass will be conducted. Plans for the intensive campaign to raise the sum have been completed and members believe the amount collected will exceed the goal set.

Last year Xenians contributed sums all the way from nine cents to $100 to make a grand total of $1,500, although the campaign was for only $1,000. Money de-

BAD BREATH

USUALLY CAUSED BY IMPROPER DIGESTION IS EASILY OVERCOME

This condition which detracts so much from an otherwise fine personality and sometimes leads to serious results, is easily eliminated by a very simple treatment. That will at once correct the fault and at the same time aid in the assimilation of food, regulate the system, remove gaseous conditions and leave the stomach sweet and clean. Try for a few days taking a teaspoonful of AGARENE each morning on arising and just before retiring. You will find it very pleasant to take, without any bad after-effects. You can obtain AGARENE from any druggist or sent prepaid in the United States upon receipt of $1.00. Address Hallwen Chemical Corporation, Cincinnati, Ohio. —Adv.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF DOG BITE APPLIES FOR RABIES REMEDY

Clinton Everhart, 70, was a fifth victim of a rabid dog which ran amuck in a crowd on E. Main St., last Saturday afternoon. It was learned today when Mr. Everhart visited the office of Dr. Frank Chambliss, who is giving Pasteur treatment to the victims of the dog's teeth.

Mr. Everhart had not visited a physician after being bitten on the leg, but returned home where simple remedies were applied to the wound which Dr. Chambliss says was the most serious of those received by victims. Becoming frightened he visited the office of Dr. Chambliss Friday after learning that he was to give the Pasteur treatment. The wound had not been cauterized and the physician did this, later sending to the Pasteur Institute in Columbus for additional serum.

Dr. Chambliss says that Elmer Trube, his nephew and niece the Osburn children who were bitten last Saturday and the Chaney child who was wounded by the same animal earlier in the week are reacting favorably to the Pasteur remedy the first treatments of which have been given them.

MOTOR bus lines have to be mighty careful of transportation costs. Profits are at stake. To give speedy, dependable service high grade gasoline is required.

This testimony comes from Fred Ryno, Manager, Ottawa Motor Coach Company, of Toledo:

"My fleet of 15 motor coaches engaged in suburban service between Toledo and Ottawa Hills are operated on Red Crown Gasoline and Polarine Motor Oil exclusively. The uniformly high quality of Red Crown and Polarine give the big mileage and operating economies essential to profitable passenger transportation."

3. If ye walk in my statutes, and keep my commandments, and do them; 4. Then I will give you rains in their season, and the land shall yield its increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit. 5. And your threshing shall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage shall reach unto the sowing time; and ye shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land safely. 14. But if ye will not hearken unto my voice, and will not do all these commandments; 15. And if ye shall reject my statutes, and if your soul shall hate my voice, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but break my covenant; 16. I also will do this unto you; I will appoint terror over you, even consumption and fever, that shall consume the eyes and make the soul to pine away; and ye shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it. 17. And I will set my face against you, and ye shall be smitten before your enemies; they that hate you shall rule over you, and ye shall flee when none pursueth you. 18. And if ye will not yet for these things hearken unto me, then I will chastise you seven times more for your sins. 19. And I will break the pride of your power; and I will make your heaven as brass, and your earth as brass. 20. And your strength shall be spent in vain; for your land shall not yield its increase neither shall the trees of the land yield their fruit.

INTRODUCTION: This book of the Bible is called Leviticus, because it contains legislation regulating the lives of the Israelites, especially the Levites or priests. These laws are both civil and religious. The book's background is, "I am Jehovah your God, who brought you forth out of the land of Egypt."

1. STATUTES ARE NECESSARY: Did the Israelites tire of their laws? Did they think them unnecessary? Many of us think that we have too much law and government, that may be true in some cases and branches of the law. Why do we need statutes? This question is vital and pertinent. We, as good citizens, should watch our character and help correct those weak laws to the letter. Government is an unseen factor that protects our lives, liberty and property. Only loss of law and government would teach their importance and value, they are the result of the long and hard experience of human need and experience. They are human and divine—the powers that are ordained of God." Romans 13:1. Be loyal.

2. RESULTS OF OBEDIENCE: Obedience to law results in prosperity in one way or another. We have the law of nature, health, mental and civil. We, if we do not obey any one of these laws, must truly realize and suffer our error in some way. But if we heed them and obey all we will enjoy a splendid result of prosperity. Nature is fertile under righteous government and character is a product of spiritual law. God will bless us with His fine fruits of the spirit the same as He does in sun, shower, farm and orchard. God protected the Israelites from the raids of the neighboring pagans. When land has obedient people and a righteous government and laws, all can enjoy prosperity both in the home, business and education and also spiritual progress will be made.

3. DISOBEDIENCE: "But if ye will not hearken unto me," causes us to realize that in all ages some have doubted and disobeyed the law. They have no certain and good reason because they do not care to obey. If laws are unjust there is a civil way to improve them. The principle of prohibition is imbedded in our constitution and should be respected as any other law, if ye expect to be good citizens. We cannot encourage this spirit of disrespect for the 18th Amendment without injuring the entire fabric of law and loyalty.

4. EVIL DEEDS: God informs those who desire to reject law and order, "I will appoint terror over you." Law must have terror or many of us would do their own will and not respect any ones rights. Our penalties are social, moral and spiritual pains for law disobedience and sin. "The wages of sin is death," Romans 6:23.

5. WASTED ENERGY: "God informs us." Your strength will be spent in vain, "by transgressing human and divine laws, including intemperance. Vice is expensive, it deadens conscience. Energy spent in sin is 'spent in vain.' Isn't this reason enough for us to obey and enforce law. The only safe way is avoid sin and intemperance, 'Avoid it, pass not it by; turn from it, and pass on,' Prov. 4:15.

BIBLE STORY

Now that Joseph had given secret orders to his house steward that when his brethren were ready to return home, he should as before, put back their money in their sacks of corn; but in Benjamin's sack along with his money, he was to put Joseph's great silver drinking cup. So when the dawn came and the new day, they set out in their long journey northwards. Then Joseph called his steward, "Up," he said, "and follow them; and when you have overtaken them, the cup, he should die, and the rest should be Joseph's bond-servants. And to this the steward agreed; but when the sacks were unloaded and opened, lo, there in the mouth of Benjamin's sack was found the cup. Then in sorrow and fear they rent their clothes and went back with the steward to Avaris, and fell on the ground before their brother. And Joseph said unto them: "What is this that you have done? Did you not know that such a man as I could know your crime by art-magic?" Then he answered: "We have no defense. This is the finger of God. 'We are all thy slaves.' But Joseph said, 'Not so, only the thief shall be my servant, and the rest of you can go in peace to your father.' Then Judah answered: 'Ah my Lord,' he said, 'be not angry with me, lest we be consumed; for you are in the King's place. You know how all this has come about, how you asked if we had another brother, and we told you of this Benjamin, and you said that he must come with us or we should not see your face again. Then, when we told our father, he would scarce be persuaded to let Benjamin come with us, lest he should perish, as Joseph, his brother, perished; for surely death would break our father's heart. Oh, my lord, how can I go back and tell my father that the lad is not with us? It will kill him with sorrow. And I pledged myself to my father to bring his son back to him. Let me stay as a slave to you, my lord, and let the lad go, for I cannot bear to return without him, and see the breaking of my father's heart."

It would be through a hard Government that should tax its people one tenth part of their TIME to be employed in its Service. But IDLENESS taxes many of us much more, if we reckon all that is spent in idle Employments or Amusements, that amount to nothing. SLOTH, by bringing on diseases absolutely shortens life. SLOTH, like Rust, consumes faster than Labor wears, while the used key is always bright, as Poor Richard says. But dost thou love life, then do not squander Time, for that's the Stuff Life is made of, as Poor Richard says.

WILBERFORCE FOUR RETURNS FOLLOWING LONG SINGING TOUR

Nearing the end of a 9,000 mile tour through nine states which marks the first concentrated effort of the officials to popularize the school, the famous Wilberforce University Quartette, composed of university students, arrived in Pittsburgh, Pa., Sunday.

"A Million Friends For Wilberforce" is the slogan being dispensed by the Quartette which has toured the eastern and southern section of the country to further the plan of a "Million Dollar Endowment" for the university.

The quartette, composed of H. T. Williams, bass; J. J. Ballou, baritone; R. R. Reed, second tenor, and H. Q. Smith, first tenor, is the first recognized and authorized group of singers for the school.

Buchanan, captain of the 1926 Wilberforce football eleven, is accompanying the Quartette and acting as joint manager and chauffeur.

The songsters toured the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, were featured in numerous concerts and received with hearty acclaim at all points along the route.

The Victor Recording Co., gave the quartette a tryout while in New York and their work merited such approval that it is expected several of their more popular numbers will be available on the market soon.

Other outstanding schools with traveling singers engaged in building up a spirit of good will for their schools are Fisk and Hampton.

FESS HELPS YOUTH TO ENTER ANTIOCH

Walter Leonard Rutnam, Antioch College student, probably owes the fact he is now enrolled at the school, to the close relationship between U. S. Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, former president of the college and Antioch.

The institution is of course dear to the memory of the junior Ohio Senator.

Recently the United States consul at Quebec, Canada, held up Rutnam, who was enroute from Ceylon to enter the college, having concluded that Antioch was of insufficient standing to be rated among schools accredited by the state department, the story runs.

But for Senator Fess's prompt and immediate intervention in which he persuaded the consul to a contrary belief, the student might have never entered the college.

CHAPTER III

LUELLA'S CONFIDENCES

The interior of the Atlanta railroad station presented a scene of great activity. Porters rushed here and there with their burdens of bags. There were warning shouts as passengers and their friends and relatives got in the way of baggage trucks, while messengers and newsboys darted here and there, the latter shouting shrilly.

Mary Forrest, in a neat new suit and traveling coat which she had bought out of her savings augmented by a three weeks' advance of salary from Cyrus Wade, surveyed the highly interesting scene.

Cyrus Wade, a little ruffled and irascible from the dilatoriness of his wife and niece, preceded them into the station. He caught sight of Mary. "Evening, Miss Forrest. Sorry to have kept you waiting, but these womenfolk of mine—"

"Now Cy!" in nagging tones from Mrs. Wade. "It was YOU who hung us up on the insurance of the baggage."

"Aw, come on!" They were through the gates. "This our Pullman, George?" He peered at the lettering on the window. "Right! Hop in."

Luella, resplendent in chinchilla cloak, with a large bunch of orchids on one shoulder, lingered. "Come on, girl," urged her uncle.

But not until the train was about to start did she enter the coach where Mary and the Wades were seated. She dropped down beside the former and did not speak until Atlanta was left well behind.

"What a messy town. But some nice people there. Are you glad or sad to leave?"

Mary felt diplomacy was needed, and answered guardedly. After an hour had passed in humdrum conversation, Luella grew expansive. Her uncle nodded across the aisle. She dropped her voice so that her aunt, beside him, might fail to overhear.

"The reason I hung about in the station was to see my beau! He's a regular prince—and fascinating! I met him on the way to Florida last Winter, but I didn't let myself get too keen about him, then, for he hadn't a cent. He was attentive, but aunt couldn't see him in the picture—nor could I, when it got right down to hard tacks! I'm extravagant and I couldn't ever be a poor man's wife."

Luella gave a tiny shiver, drawing the gorgeous fur wrap tighter about her shoulders. She continued: "But this year, when we came by Atlanta on our way home from Aiken, what do you think had happened to him? An old father of his he hadn't seen in five years, and who'd disapproved terribly of him because he wanted to go to Paris and paint, had gone and died on an estate he'd bought to retire to in his old age in Cuba, and as the older brother, a sort of black sheep had died in Australia five or six years ago, this son's the heir. It came right in the nick of time, because this trip I'm keen about him more than ever, and he is on me, too, and I simply couldn't have fought against it for much longer. A mercy isn't it?"

She rolled her pretty eyes dramatically. Then she added, as if it were an afterthought: "Phil's lungs aren't any too strong, since he was gassed way back in 1918, and in the Winters he gets a troublesome cough. So Cuba will just fit in for the smart season every year. I'll adore it too."

"Are you engaged to him?" queried Mary. She admired Luella's beauty, but somehow she felt a tiny bit sorry for the absent one. The words of the brown-eyed man came back to her aptly. He had said: "Money's rather beastly, when you come to think of it. Causes nearly all the trouble in the world."

In this instance it had brought Luella's beau within her shining or metallic radiance. Time alone would tell of trouble for the absent one lay there. . . .

"We're not definitely engaged," replied Luella archly, and with confidence. "But he's wild about me."

and on the boat—he's going to New York to see his lawyer on the same ship—I know he'll put the question. He's in love with me all right. He told me so only two nights ago in Atlanta. And he's honest as the day. Not an insincere thought in his head. You'll admire him awfully. Most girls do, but I'm the one he's crazy over. He thinks I'm a little plaster saint, and I believe I'll soon become one when we marry. He's the kind of a man that you simply must live up to. See?"

"You are very fortunate," said Mary, gently.

She said no more, but for a long time that night—as the train rattled and jolted toward the coast—Mary lay awake, thinking of Luella's words and still feeling sorry somehow for Luella's beau.

In the bustle of arrival at Savannah and the hurried transfer from train to hotel and thence to the steamship docks, she forgot the conversation of the night before. But when they had passed the barriers and were halfway across the gangway to the boat, it came back to her with lightning force. Luella suddenly grabbed Mary Forrest by the arm, at the same time waving her handbag towards a tall figure that was leaning over the ship's side, watching the new arrivals.

"Look, there he is—there's Phil Anderson, my best beloved! Isn't he handsome and attractive! Look! He's seen us. No he hasn't. Yes he is waving. Hello, Phil—That's the man I'm going to marry!"

Mary Forrest looked. Her heart gave a great, agonizing thump and seemed to turn right around in her bosom.

For—Luella's Best Beloved was none other than the brown-eyed, kind-eyed man of last week's wonderful adventure, the man who had filled Mary's sleeping, and waking moments ever since!

chicken dinner was served at noon in the assembly room by the Women's Relief Corps. Baskets and bouquets of cosmos, zinnias, and other late summer bloom were used in profusion to decorate the rooms and tables.

Mayor John W. Prugh welcomed the visitors, extolling the service they had rendered the country, which service, he said, had made it possible for the country to celebrate Constitution Day, on September 17. He dwelt upon General Keifer's attendance and paid a tribute to him as not only a great Civil War general, but as one of the country's most important men since the Civil War.

G. W. Rosser, Greenville, responded to the welcome.

General Keifer's address was given in the afternoon, and a short talk was also made by the Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, who opened the morning and afternoon session with prayer and delivered the benediction. Instrumental music was given at both the morning and afternoon session by the Misses Marjorie and Lois Street, piano and cello; Mrs. Walter Wike, rattle bones; Mrs. Merritt, piano and Mrs. D. L. Croy, violin. A solo was sung by Mrs. J. C. Denham. Several of the veterans and their friends made brief talks. Revell was sounded by a bugler from the O. S. and S. O. Home.

S. D. Frank, of Troy, was elected president of the regimental association.

ROMANCE IS DENIED MAY AND DECEMBER

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 17—The romance of a 43-year-old widow and her eighteen year old farm hand lover, both of Fairfield County was frustrated for the second time here today.

Judge Snyder again refused to grant a marriage license to Mrs. Margaret Griggs of Pleasantville, and Chester Primmer, of Dumontville. The couple was refused a license on May 13 by Judge Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Primmer, parents of the boy gave their consent to the marriage, but Judge Snyder was obdurate and refused to grant the license. Mrs. Griggs is the mother of five children, one of whom is older than the would-be bridegroom.

The interest and attendance at the series of meetings this week at Zion Baptist Church, has been very good. Each service has had an inspiring message from the local ministers. Wednesday, the Rev. W. C. Allen, pastor of the Middle Run Baptist Church, spoke from the 46th Psalm and 5th verse. "God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved." Thursday evening the Rev. A. M. Howe, of the Third Baptist, talked from the latter clause

GAS BUGGIES or HEM AND AMY—A Close Call

THIS IS THE LIFE, HEM. WE'LL NEVER BEAT THIS SPOT FOR CAMPING. LET'S STICK RIGHT HERE AND GIVE THE OLD BUS A REST.

SUITS ME, MR. GULF. WE'VE BEEN GOING PRETTY STEADILY. IT'D DO US GOOD TO DROP OUT OF THE PROCESSION AWHILE.

MR. GULF IS BATTY ABOUT THIS PLACE. HE RAVED OVER IT LIKE A REAL ESTATE AGENT BOOSTING A SUB-DIVISION. HE WANTS TO STAY HERE TILL THE SNOW FALLS.

I WISH SHE'D FEEL THAT WAY ABOUT THE COOK-STOVE ONCE IN AWHILE.

PST! COME INTO OUR TENT QUICK. I'VE BAD NEWS.

ABOUT AN HOUR AGO I WAS HELPING AMY START DINNER AND I HAPPENED TO LOOK TOWARDS THE ROAD. THERE STOOD A STATE POLICEMAN STARING STRAIGHT AT ME. MY HEART STOPPED BEATING. I MADE A BEE-LINE FOR HERE. FINALLY HE LEFT.

POOR GEORGE. HE'S SUFFERING TERRIBLY. HIS CONSTITUTION IS VERY DELICATE ANYWAY---

MY HEAD FEELS LIKE IT'S BUZZING INSIDE. IT'S THE WATER HERE. IT'S NOT FIT TO DRINK. WE'LL HAVE TO FIND ANOTHER CAMP RIGHT AWAY.
